U.S. Aid to Reds Worries Japan Denies Americans To Be Hostages

TOKYO (AP)—United States Ambassador Joseph Grew said today that for a considerable period of time he had been "talking with the Japanese government concerning restrictions on Americans leaving Japan and other problems related to United States citizens."

(In Washington State Secretary Cordell Hull disclosed today that Ambassador Joseph C. Grew's conversation with the Japanese foreign minister in Tokyo yesterday went beyond the question of permitting American citizens to leave Japan. But Hull declined to give any details.)

The ambassador's statement came as Koh Ishii, cabinet information bureau spokesman, denied the Japanese government intends to hold Americans as hostages.

Supplementing press conference statements, Ishii declined to elaborate on what problems were related to the departure of Americans and other aliens, but intimated they were not trade, political or other international issues.

It was pointed out new home office restrictions on foreigners' entry and residents, issued August 15, applied to all aliens regardless of nationality and these were compared with similar legislation of other countries, including U.S. laws effective September 1.

WATCH RED SUPPLIES

The Japanese spokesman said Japan could not remain indifferent to shipment of munitions by the United States to Soviet Russia by way of Vladivostok.

"We will keep peace in the Orient," he said. He contended American diplomacy "should have delicacy" in handling the tense, Far Eastern situation. Editorials in the Japanese press expressed concern over U.S. aid to Russia. One newspaper, Chugai, said that "even if British-American supplies fail actually to reach the Soviet, the fact cannot be overlooked that it (aid to Russia) has at least the effect of reinforcing Soviet troops in the Far East."

EXPLANATION NOT ENOUGH

Ishii's remarks on aid to Russia followed his comments on State Secretary Cordell Hull's statement the Japanese had not given a satisfactory explanation concerning their failure to let approximately 100 U.S. citizens leave Japan aboard the liner President Coolidge.

The problem of permitting the Americans to leave the country hinged, he said, upon "other inconveniences" in U.S.-Japan relations. At first, he said, the U.S. embassy had asked to send home 22 officials aboard the President Coolidge, and the Japanese agreed. Later, however, the embassy asked that a great number of Americans be permitted to leave Japan on the same ship, he said.

"This was contrary to a past promise," Ishii said. "We could not accept. The Coolidge question is only one of principle in keeping promises."

At the same time a reliable source reported six U.S. embassy officials had been permitted to go to Shanghai from where they might arrange transportation to United States.

No Grain for Nazis in Ukraine Reds Counter-attack at Smolensk

Canadian and Associated Press The Red Army reported counter-attacks today in the central sector of the front east of Smolensk while fighting fiercely to hold off German offensives in the north and south.

In the Leningrad sector the Russians announced abandonment of Kingisepp, 75 miles south of the old Czarist capital, which followed the yielding of Nikolaev, on the Black Sea, to the Germans advancing in the southern Ukraine.

Hitler's high command claimed German troops have overrun all Ukraine territory west of the Dnieper River. Soviet spokesmen withheld comment on these claims but noted that harvesting in the area had been completed by August 1, thus denying the Germans any grain stocks.

The German claim, however, is manifestly false unless Kiev, the Ukrainian capital, is in German hands. This has not been claimed, and German forces last were reported at least 50 miles from the heavily-defended city.

In the central sector the Russian counter-attacks apparently were taking place between Smolensk and Vyazma, on the road to Moscow. Smolensk has been in German possession for some time and the fighting now is centred somewhere to the east. Neither side has recently mentioned place names in this respect.

The German high command claimed that in capturing the port of Nikolaev the booty included a 35,000-ton Soviet battleship under construction as well as other uncompleted warships.

NOT DEATH BLOW

Authoritative quarters in London, commenting on the situation in the Ukraine, said the German occupation west of the Dnieper River would not be a death blow to the U.S.S.R., but that if the Nazis succeeded in smashing Marshal Semeon Budenny's army the result would be very serious.

British military experts said the ability of the Russians to hold on the east side of the swift, mile-wide Dnieper would depend on Budenny's ingenuity in deploying his reserves.

If the Germans should force a crossing at one or two strategic points, it was said, there is no other natural line of defence except the river Don, 250 miles due east of Dnieperopetrovsk.

HOLDING FIRM

The new Soviet line appeared to be firmly held under the high command's tactics of keeping the Red Army intact to inflict the heaviest possible losses upon the invaders.

Today's communique, without listing positions, said only that battles continued during the night along the entire front.

Soviet and German armies were reported, however, to be battling within 75 miles of Leningrad after the withdrawal from Kingisepp.

Moscow's midnight communique credited Russian torpedo boats and bombers with sinking a German submarine and two transports in the Baltic.

The capital had another air raid during the night. Official accounts said damage was insignificant, although some explosives and fire bombs were dropped on the city by the single raider reported to have broken through anti-aircraft and night fighter defences.

Final Bulletins

Chanting Pickets

NEW YORK (AP)—Approximately 500 pickets, chanting union songs, launched a strike today at Gimbel's department store in Herald Square, one of the most concentrated shopping districts in the world.

A police detail, including 100 patrolmen and a score of mounted police, was thrown into the square as subway, trolley and bus lines disgorged shoppers headed for Gimbel's, Saks and Macy's. William Michelsen, president of the United Department Store Employees' Union (C.I.O.), said the strike involved the entire personnel of 1,500 Gimbel employees. The store remained open.

Stay on Land

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister P. M. Dewar of Ontario said today farmers and their sons should be encouraged to remain on the land because "their primary service in the war is to produce."

May Trade

LONDON (CP)—Britain is setting up machinery for possible continuation of trade with Japan, an authoritative source disclosed tonight.

The new plan involves an arrangement to place payments for any imports from Japan in a "clearing account" which could be used to finance licensed exports to Japan, provided licenses were issued.

Windsors Coming

NASSAU, Bahamas (CP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor definitely plan to visit their ranch near High River, Alta., this year, a government spokesman said today.

The date of the trip has not been set, nor has the route been selected, but it is considered unlikely they will leave before September.

In Washington, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said he had learned from the British ambassador, Lord Halifax, the Duke and Duchess planned to visit Washington on a projected trip to the United States.

Berlin Raided

LONDON (CP)—The Moscow radio said today Soviet aircraft raided the Berlin district overnight, hitting military and industrial targets with incendiary and high explosive bombs.

French Cheer British Officers

CAIRO, Egypt (CP)—Lieut. McIlwraith of Toronto was one of 28 officers reaching here today after release from the military prison at Toulon, France, under the Syrian armistice terms. An officer of the British army, he was captured by Vichy forces at Palmyra during the Syrian campaign.

The officers returned to Cairo with stories of cheering demonstrations by the people of the occupied zone.

Lt-Col. L. B. Jones, one of the officers, said the French shouted from passing trains, "Cheer up, you'll win," as they recognized the British prisoners, and that at Dijon station, one girl ran down the train waving a handkerchief embroidered with the Union Jack.

During the trip to Toulon from Salonika, Jones said, he saw not a single sheep, cow or goat in the fields until his train entered unoccupied France.

8 Nazis Downed

LONDON (CP)—Royal Air Force planes shot down eight German fighters over northern France today in a daylight follow-up to powerful attacks overnight on the German cities of Cologne and Duisburg.

Six British fighter planes engaged in a large-scale sweep against German objectives in France were missing, but the pilots of two were safe, authorities said.

Want Menzies For Home Duty

MELBOURNE (AP)—A group of "rebel" members of the United Australia Party were reported today to be of the opinion Prime Minister Robert Menzies should not go to Britain as a member of an Imperial war cabinet, if the present Far Eastern situation is as serious as pictured.

They do not object, however, to the Prime Minister going as a minister of state extraordinary, accredited to a war cabinet, since this would mean he would be free to return to the Commonwealth quickly in the event of an emergency.

Observers said today it seems likely Prime Minister Menzies will go to London with the position of senior minister.

The Prime Minister himself said in a statement he is not prepared to make the trip unless all parties in the federal parliament agree on the question.

Chief opposition to date has come from members of the Labor Party.

Russian Gold Sent to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russian gold started flowing to the United States last week, apparently to pay for war purchases. The commerce department reported imports of $3,407,285 of gold from Russia in the week ended August 13. Officials could recall only two other shipments of Russian gold arriving in this country in the last several years.

Although Russia is one of the principal gold producers in the world, it has heretofore either hoarded its gold, or sold it elsewhere. Although the amount of Russian gold stocks is unknown, officials here have said they were probably large enough to enable the Russians to pay cash for war supplies for some time.

Move to Smooth Defence Kinks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt has commissioned Judge Samuel I. Rosenman of the New York State supreme court to make a study of differences between the office of production management and the office of price administration and civilian supply.

In making this known today, Stephen Early, Presidential Secretary, said that Rosenman, an old friend and advisor of the President, was still in Washington but he did not know whether a report was ready for Mr. Roosevelt.

O.P.M. and P.O.A.C.S. have not seen eye to eye on some policy matters, such as a proposed curtailment of automobile production to make room for expanded defence output by motor car plants.

Asked whether he had heard that a super defence agency might be organized with vice-president Wallace in charge, Early said he did not know whether that was right or not. Questioned whether Rosenman was working on reorganization of the defence set up, Early replied:

COUNSELLOR

"Rosenman has been associated with the President for years. He was counsellor in Albany then he went on to the bench.

"Like most others in this emergency, he asked the President if he could render any assistance. He said he would give the President his vacation, between the time court recessed and convened, and offered to come to Washington and do any chores the President might assign him.

"I do know he has been making a study for the President of reported policy differences as between O.P.M. and O.P.A.C.S. He's still here. I don't know whether he's ready to report to the President or just what the status is."

One high-placed official, calling the automobile controversy "just a small sample of what has been going on" described the alleged conflicts within various defence agencies as a "mess."

Outlines of the proposed new setups were vague, except that apparently they dealt most with what the government ought to do with available steel and other defence supplies in the way of apportioning them among the army and navy, Britain and other countries, and civilian consumption.

Injured Flier

Bound Own Leg, Slept in Rain

CALGARY (CP) — L.A.C. A. M. R. McGruther, 26, of Edmonton, sole survivor of the crash of a Royal Canadian Air Force plane in which two companions were killed, "knew everything was all right" when he saw a search plane overhead the day after the accident.

F.O. I. M. Sutherland Brown, 21, of Victoria, and L.A.C. F. W. Greenfield, 22, of Madison, Sask., were killed instantly when the plane crashed on the side of Mount McDougall 50 miles southwest of Calgary Thursday. L.A.C. McGruther suffered a broken leg.

Rescuers who helped carry him down the mountainside after the wreckage was located Saturday quoted him as saying:

"It wasn't bad once I saw the plane overhead. I knew I just had to wait and pretty soon they'd be along to get me."

"I stayed right in the plane the next night," he related. "The next morning I bandaged my leg and crawled over to the stream and had a drink. I got across the water and sat on the bank and that's when I saw the plane. Then I knew everything was all right."

"After a while I went back to the plane and dragged out the parachutes. I made a bed under the cowl of one of the engines, but it started to rain and I got wet, so I crawled back into the plane. It was hard work but I made it."

"Saturday I heard the fellows coming. I yelled, 'Can you find me?'"

"They seemed to be yelling something, but I couldn't understand them, so I just waited. I was sure glad to see them when they arrived."

An airman who reached the wrecked craft said each R.C.A.F. plane carries a small card on the doorway on which is listed whether or not the plane is serviceable.

Friday morning, McGruther attempted to drag himself from the plane for the first time, he noticed the card. Despite his injuries he stopped to change it to read "unserviceable."

Participants in an investigation started by Brooklyn District Attorney William O'Dwyer, police and fire officials and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Officials of the Cuba Mail Line said 12 of their crewmen remain unaccounted for. Whether all longshoremen and other dock workers have been accounted for has not been determined.

The blaze apparently started in a bale of hemp—possibly from a carelessly discarded cigarette.

Destroyed by the fire was the $500,000 vessel and all sorts of cargo, ranging from hemp to cotton, and including oil and chemicals, worth an estimated $600,000 to $1,000,000 or more.

GAVE DEATH SEAT IN PLANE TO PURVIS—The Right Hon. Peter Fraser, Prime Minister of New Zealand, owes his life to his generosity in relinquishing to Rt. Hon. Arthur B. Purvis his seat on the Canada-bound plane which crashed taking off in England, killing 22 passengers. Here Mr. Fraser is shown surrounded by New Zealand troops in England while a radio announcer prepares for a broadcast. By another twist of fate, the man who gave up his seat for the Montreal industrialist is now being mentioned as his successor to the important job as chairman of British supply council.

SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN (CP)—Rt. Hon. Arthur B. Purvis, Britain's biggest arms buyer, and 21 companions killed in the crash of an Atlantic ferry aircraft August 14 were buried in a common grave in a picturesque cemetery today.

Polished oak coffins each bearing a plain brass nameplate and draped either in the Union Jack or the Stars and Stripes were lowered into the grave after the funeral procession which wound slowly through streets of the hushed town. The silence was broken by the roll of muffled drums and the drone of fighter aircraft overhead.

The coffins were carried on three Royal Air Force trucks from the mortuary where they had lain in state. The Purvis coffin was flanked on one side by coffins bearing the names of the British and Canadian officers and on the other by the coffins of the ferry pilots killed. The procession was headed by a band of 100 followed by an escort of armoured cars, ferry pilots and R.A.F. officers.

The mourners, only members of the public allowed to attend the burial, joined the procession at the gates of the cemetery. While the coffins were lowered in the flower-banked grave, R.A.F. officers and ferry pilots stood at attention.

The graveside service was opened by Sqdn. Ldr. F. Birkett, R.A.F. Anglican chaplain, who paid tribute to the ferry pilots who died in the crash. Eulogizing Mr. Purvis, he said he was "one who meant much to Britain's war effort and whose loss the Empire can ill afford to bear."

Nazi Bombs End Samovar Parties

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow's millions, who have been keeping an almost nightly rendezvous with German raiders for a month, have adjusted their lives to make the appointment as pleasant as possible.

The most noticeable change in life in this capital has been the disruption by the modern aerial visitors of the centuries-old Muscovite custom of calling at the home of friends and passing the long evenings drinking tea and talking.

Muscovites take it all with characteristic Slavic calm. Whether it be bombing or some other discomfort of war, they shrug their shoulders and say "aichevo"—so what.

Until the bombings began July 21 the war had wrought comparatively few changes in life in Moscow.

The capital was blacked out, a midnight curfew was established, rationing was introduced, patriotic posters appeared, and men marched away to war, but for those who stayed here the front seemed far away and in Moscow it was business as usual.

METRO NOW SHELTER

Bombings brought the aerial

The Metro, which Muscovites regard as the most modern subway system in the world, took on new importance as an air raid shelter.

It was built by Lazar Kaganovich, now Soviet Commissar of Railroads, and put into operation in 1935. Lines extend 16½ miles, with 11 stations, each with a different modernistic design.

Since the bombings began trains have stopped running at 8 p.m. Children and women accompanying children are permitted to enter the stations at that time to sleep in the long tunnels.

Nurses and militia are on duty and wake the women and children and send them home when the all-clear sounds.

RAIDS LIGHTER

The raids have become lighter and more sporadic recently, prompting sarcastic comments from the crowds.

Restaurants and theatres continue to operate, but close before the hour when air-raid alarms usually sound.

Movies also are open, showing newsreels from the front, patriotic shorts and full-length features.

Sports events, interrupted early in the war, have been resumed. Sunday soccer games at Dynamo Stadium are drawing crowds of 80,000, and swimming meets have been revived.

The War Today

By DON GILBERT

The vast system of communications organized to insure Britain the full benefits of United States war production receives a notable addition in the south Atlantic air ferry service. Together with existing shipping facilities, it represents for the Middle East a supply line comparable to the intricate north Atlantic system which keeps the British Isles equipped for war.

IMPORTANCE

The official statement in Washington announcing the ferry service will be organized and operated by the Pan-American Airways system emphasizes importance of "this direct line of communication between our country and strategic outposts in Africa cannot be overestimated."

To the United States the term "strategic outposts" primarily means Dakar, the west African bastion pointed dagger-like toward the western hemisphere. Possibility of the Germans occupying this strategic area with the acquiescence of the Vichy French has been a constant nightmare for U.S. authorities.

For Britain the new development means that when fighting is renewed in the Middle East the air force is assured a steady flow of bomber and reconnaissance aircraft not dependent on sea communications.

DIFFICULTIES

Establishment of this aircraft delivery system that may be extended almost around the world coincides with appearance of communications difficulties in the Pacific arising from American-Japanese tension. The Japanese are campaigning vigorously against U.S. shipments to Russia by way of Vladivostok and other major difficulties may arise at any time. The existence of a well-developed alternative route to the Far East will strengthen the hands of United States and Britain in future dealings with Tokyo.

Immigrant Quota Halved By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only one-half of prospective immigrants who seek admission to the United States are being granted permits under new and drastically tightened restrictions on entry of aliens.

Two official advisory committees on immigration, functioning only since mid-July, already have rejected outright 300 applications for visas, it was learned today.

The rejections were ordered on the ground the applications were submitted by potential Axis spies, propagandists or fifth columnists or by persons inimical to the nation's defence or to the American form of government.

In addition, nearly one-half of all the other applications have been held up for further investigation.

During the first six months of this year only 25,943 immigrants for permanent residence were admitted against total quotas of 153,774 for the entire year. Immigrants in 1940 totaled 70,756. In 1939, 82,998 were allowed to enter.

SUFFERED 5 YEARS FROM

Rheumatic PAIN

Are your joints stiffening, rheumatic pains so stubborn you just can't seem to get rid of them? They were with Mrs. Wm. Foran, 10 Brunswick St., St. John, N.B., in five years of suffering she tried all kinds of medicine and treatments, but to no effect. Then, recently, she took Temple's "R-C-A." The very first box brought a relief of the pains. "Since then I have been feeling fine. 'R-C-A.' has helped me up my stairs, and has relieved me of my pain and stiffness. Try 'R-C-A.' yourself. They are specially made to combat rheumatic pain, headache, sciatica, neuritis, etc. Get a 50c or $1.00 box from your druggist."

Paratroops Find Thrills

By HAROLD FAIR

LONDON (CP)—The Spartan, thrill-packed existence of a trooper in Britain's parachute troops—the army's flying dare-devils created after the Battle of Flanders—has attracted tough men of the dominions from the tedious foot-slogging of the regular British army.

These "paratroops," who volunteer for the corps—and draw extra pay daily, include at least two Canadians and some Australians, New Zealanders and South Africans. Naturally, their number is small compared with the number of Britons who answered the call.

Dropping from a low-flying plane "is the greatest thrill on earth," said a wiry, sandy-haired Jack Moir of Montreal. "I wouldn't give it up for anything in the world."

Moir, 31, who joined the British army six months before the war, said the only other Canadian he knew was Sgt. Dolliv Grav of Toronto. Former Sudbury miner and Winnipeg steelworker, Moir came to Britain four years ago when employment was scarce at home.

LIKES TO JUMP

"There's nothing I like better than to get up in that plane and jump," he said. It was a "hellish feeling" though for the first few seconds until the chute opened "with a jerk that pulls your head back."

A raw-boned Australian Sgt. Jerry Manley—veteran of India's northwest frontier, backed him up. "It's been the best time in the army yet," said Manley.

The "paratroops" are weird-looking figures in the khaki, knee-length overalls worn over their battle-dress to cover equipment in descent. Once they are down, the overalls come off in a hurry. A blue eagle with white parachute for a head adorns the left shoulder as corps identification.

They learn to jump first from a standing board and then through holes in the floor. After a month they are ready to take to the air.

You Can Make a Big Saving By Dyeing Your Own Hair

It is now so easy, safe, simple and economical to get rid of grey hair that men and women with greying locks need hesitate no longer because of the expense of dyeing the hair and keeping it touched up. The Orlex recipe given below takes out the risk, and enables anyone to get a real professional-looking job at home, at a fraction of the expense usually involved.

Here is the money-saving recipe: Get from your druggist one-fourth ounce glycerine, one ounce bay rum and one box Orlex Compound. Mix these in a half pint of water, or your druggist will prepare for you at small cost. This gives you a generous size bottle of one of the best grey hair preparations you can use. Simply comb it into the hair several times a week. A rich, natural-looking color is soon imparted to grey, streaked, faded hair. Best of all this shade may be maintained for just a few cents a week. Orlex will not wash out or rub off. Being colorless it does not stain the scalp; will not affect permanents. Is not sticky or greasy and leaves the hair soft and glossy. You will be amazed how many years younger you will look and how easily, safely and economically you can eliminate all traces of greying hair. Try the Orlex recipe today. (Adv.)

106 Targets Hit In July

Nazis Bombed on Many Fronts In Month of Heaviest Raids

LONDON (CP)—July statistics, now complete, indicate that the Royal Air Force's offensive in that month, heaviest ever undertaken by the bomber command, ranged over 106 targets in all the theatres of war.

During the month, 32 towns and cities in Germany felt the weight of some of Britain's mightiest bombs on 69 occasions. Twenty-nine centres in the occupied countries were attacked 76 times and 126 raids were made on 45 targets in the Middle East.

Cologne, vast industrial centre and railway junction on the Rhine, bore the brunt of the attacks on Germany with six raids. Bremen, one of the most heavily fortified cities in the world, against air attack, was raided an equal number of times, mostly by day.

BENGAZI GOT MOST

The place most persistently bombed, however, was Bengazi, visited by the R.A.F. 20 times in 31 days. Beirut was attacked 10 times and Tripoli nine.

What tonnage of bombs was dropped during these widespread and persistent operations was not disclosed, but it was greater than in any other month of the war.

WORK TOGETHER ON BERLIN

The steady battering of Berlin and a dozen other German cities by co-ordinated raids of the British and Russian air forces is expanding with the lengthening nights and the costly attrition of Nazi fighter strength.

Royal Air Force sources said that co-ordination so far had been relatively simple. They emphasized the difficulties and dangers in an exchange of detailed plans between air staffs.

It is believed, however, that the aerial executives of London and Moscow keep each other in

Changes in Economy

GENEVA PARK, Lake Couchiching, Ont. (CP)—Canada must expect sharp dislocations in economy "if we are to carry out our (war) production program," D. A. Skelton, director of research of the Bank of Canada, warned in an address here.

"Faced with acute shortages of necessary war materials and labor, and with the prospect of still greater shortages if we are to carry on, we must expect these dislocations," he told the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs.

He said that previously it was possible to meet the exigencies by purely fiscal adjustments, but "now that we have reached practically full employment, we are finding some real bottlenecks in production."

"We must get essential material and labor. Faced with shortages we must expect changes in economy. We must and shall extend direct control as the only practical answer and, in doing so, we are faced with an emulsion of the totalitarian states in an effort to strike back comparative blows."

Chinese Casualties To Date 3,300,000

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Alfred Kohlberg of New York, a director of the American Bureau for Medical Aid to China, says that Chinese army casualties since the beginning of the war have been estimated at 3,300,000 dead and wounded.

"The Japanese army is making no new advances, but is stalled along an indefinite 2,000 mile front," he said on his return by clipper. "China feels that it can hold out indefinitely and that, when Germany is beaten, it can get the aid it needs to drive the Japanese back to their island empire."

The Chinese army is composed of 3,000,000 fighting men and 5,000,000 members of the labor or training corps who could be thrown into action except for lack of arms, Kohlberg said.

formed as to targets and the extent of raids.

NEW BOMBS DO WELL

The Nazis are desperately anxious to learn the nature of the new "beautiful" bombs now being used by Britain, the Lisbon correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph reported in a dispatch to his paper.

A foreigner who left Berlin recently told the correspondent that at the spot where one big bomb fell German war office experts spent days searching the debris in the hope of finding enough fragments to study construction and nature of the bomb.

The informant, to illustrate the formidable nature of the bombs used by the Royal Air Force, said the building in which he lived in the heart of Berlin was shaken to the foundations by a bomb, yet it fell a half-mile away. The bomb blew roofs off houses and smashed windows over a radius of 600 yards.

TOWNS EVACUATED

The effect of the British raids on the German public was described by a man who went for a holiday in the Black Forest. He found it impossible to obtain accommodation, even in the most remote places. The whole area was crowded by evacuees from the Ruhr and Rhineland.

All the hotels were packed, and the proprietors were forced by government order to take in evacuees even if they had no money. The hotel owners complained bitterly of impending ruin.

A traveler from Koeningberg gave an account of the first bombing of that city by the Russians. Two ships were sunk in the harbor, and in one street alone a bomb killed 40 persons. No raiders were brought down. In this and a subsequent raid

New Basis for Empire Scheme

Planning to Extend Air Training Plan

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA (CP)—Preliminary negotiations designed to extend the life of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan have started in London, Air Minister C. G. Power announced.

The agreement under which thousands of young men from Canada, Britain, New Zealand and Australia receive training in Canada for fighting service as pilots, observers and air gunners was made for a three-year period and nominally expires March 31, 1943.

At a press conference July 28, Mr. Power said, in reply to a question whether the planned extension was an indication the authorities anticipate a long war, that it is necessary to plan at least 18 months in advance.

NEW SYSTEM

The new agreement, it is expected, will place the training plan on a new accounting basis, with Canada supplying the training at so much per man. Under the present arrangement, with one country supplying machines and contributions in kind, and another participating in money payments, the accounting problem has become difficult.

"The senior partner in the agreement (Great Britain) now is carrying on discussions with the city's elaborately organized warning system failed to work supposedly because of sabotage.

COLOGNE BOMBED

LONDON (CP)—Super-bombs from fast British planes exploded on objectives in Cologne and Duisburg during the night and many large fires were seen as pilots headed for home, the Air Ministry said today. Tons of explosives were dropped on the clearly-visible targets in the two German industrial cities.

Another group of bombers battered the docks at Dunkerque in occupied France, while fighter planes attacked Nazi airfields in northern France.

Eight British planes were lost. Reuters's news agency said that while the R.A.F. was over western Germany, Russian planes attacked points in eastern Germany.

Early today, watchers on the English coast reported large fires flared along the occupied French coast from Dunkerque to Boulogne after a British raid on Channel ports and occupied territory farther inland. Watchers heard the crash of bombs, then saw the flames rise.

The Nazi air force made a small-scale attack on the east coasts of England and Scotland. A communiqué said some persons were killed in attacks on two points in northeast England while some damage was caused at one point in northeast Scotland.

(Nazi sources in Berlin admitted British and Russian planes dropped bombs at several places in western and eastern Germany, causing damage and casualties. A communiqué said the Russian planes flew in from the Baltic and caused an air raid alarm in Berlin which sent residents scurrying to shelters.)

Australia and New Zealand about the extension," said Maj. Power.

He intimated Canada will be more directly concerned in later stages of the negotiations which may take place here after the other three parties have completed preliminary discussions.

Although the tempo of operations has been stepped up, the plan operates largely along lines originally drawn for it and is at almost peak operation. Total number of schools in Canada was stepped up from the 67 originally planned, first to 83 and later to 89.

NEED MORE MEN

Number of fighting airmen taking training and graduating from month to month is a secret, but there has been no denial of early forecasts that when the plan reached the peak—possibly about the start of next year—its capacity would be 20,000 to 30,000 a year.

The staff, service and civilian, employed in training them numbers 46,000.

In any event, the Royal Canadian Air Force, which hitherto has had long lists of recruits on its waiting lists, now is planning a more active recruiting campaign and has arranged with the army for priority in certain recruiting fields.

Churchill to Iceland On Canada Warship

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, arriving in Iceland aboard a Canadian destroyer, told a cheering crowd from the balcony of Parliament House last Saturday that "we and the United States came here to keep the war away from you."

"We came to you as a highly civilized nation which has played a great part in the democratic civilization," he told a great crowd in his brief address.

"We will to trouble your own life as little as possible and guarantee, together with the United States, that after the war your culture of the past will be linked with a free future."

The Prime Minister arrived in the morning to find a large guard of honor awaiting him. With him was Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

In a merry mood Mr. Churchill gave the thumbs up and V for Victory sign to the guard and smiled and waved to the crowd.

Later he inspected long lines of troops of all units, including

United States marines. He talked and joked with them.

Following the inspection Mr. Churchill was received by Regent Svein Bjornsson and met with the government of Iceland for half an hour.

United States soldiers on Icelandic ponies rode up to meet him, workers stopped their tasks to watch him and girls came to him and asked for his autograph. He signed their books willingly.

In addition to his conference with the government he also attended a conference at military headquarters.

He left late in the afternoon.

Enrol Air Cadets

MELBOURNE (AP)—Enrolment of the first of a group of 15,600 youths between the ages of 16 and 18 for Australia's air cadet training corps will begin shortly. Object of the scheme is to provide a pool from which partly trained youths will pass directly to the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan reserve when they reach the minimum age of 18.

B.C. Employment Hits New High

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian employers were reported today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics to have added 77,500 employees to their payrolls in the period between May 1 and June 1, topping all previous records in an advance regarded as reflecting a new all-time high in industrial activity.

Returns from 12,535 establishments showed 1,528,834 employees at June 1 compared with 1,451,322 at May 1.

The bureau said the increase was seasonal in character but "decidedly above" the average increase recorded at June 1 since records were started in 1920.

"There was general improvement in industrial employment at the beginning of June," the bureau said, "with increased activity being recorded by establishments in all provinces, in each of the eight cities for which statistics are segregated, and in most industries."

The employment index in British Columbia reached a new maximum at 134.9, 20 per cent higher than at June 1 last year. An aggregate staff of 124,533 was reported by 1,319 establishments compared with 122,405 at May 1.

SALVAGE RUBBER TO HELP FORCES

OTTAWA (CP)—Salvage of waste rubber articles—"the newest way home-front Canadians can help beat the Nazis"—is recommended by National Salvage Headquarters.

"Canada's army and air force need rubber," the statement said. "Auto tires and tubes, bicycle tires, boots and shoes, hose and tubing, ringer rolls, rubber mats for the floor or sink or for scrubbing, water bags, belting and gaskets are some of the articles containing recoverable rubber."

"If your home has these things lying around as waste, donate them to your nearest salvage depot."

9,150-FOOT PEAK SCALED AT LAST

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Dr. and Mrs. Neal M. Carter have returned here after a successful attempt to climb the hitherto unscaled summit of Mount Mean skinit, 9,150-foot peak of the Seven Sisters range on August 11.

Accompanying Dr. Carter and his wife were two other Prince Rupert mountaineers, Jack Cade and George Baker.

Mount Mean skinit is situated in the Hazelton district, about 100 miles east of here and is the highest peak within a radius of 50 miles.

The party made the final ascent from a base camp at the old B. W. Mines Ltd., property at the 4,100-foot level. Dr. Carter related, and took eleven and a half hours to reach the top. They started the final assault at 6 o'clock last Monday morning and returned to their base at midnight.

Living Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—From August, 1939, to April, 1941, farm family living costs advanced 13.2 per cent compared with 7.7 per cent for urban living costs, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The 1941 spring index number of Canadian farm family living costs showed an increase of 1.8 per cent to 112.3, on the base of 1935-39 equals 100. This was the highest level since 1930 and compared with a depression low of 95.7 recorded in 1933.

Regional indexes showed similar movements between the fall of 1940 and spring of this year, the eastern series gaining 2.1 per cent to 112.9 while the western index moved up 1.4 per cent to 111.4.

During the same period, the urban living costs index stiffened 2.5 per cent to 108.6. An index of Canadian farm product prices at wholesale advanced 10.8 per cent to 69.5, still 30.5 points below the 1926 level.

Surrey Youth Killed In Auto Crash

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Lou Thomas, 17-year-old youth of nearby Surrey municipality, died in hospital yesterday from injuries suffered several hours earlier when the automobile in which he was riding crashed into a telephone pole here.

Philip Elton, 18, also of Surrey, is in serious condition in hospital here with head injuries and a fractured wrist suffered in the same accident.

Only four diseases kill more persons of all ages than do accidents. They are heart disease, cancer, nephritis and general hemorrhage.

Churchill Visits King, To Broadcast Sunday

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill returned to No. 10 Downing Street today from his Atlantic conference with President Roosevelt and, after a rousing greeting by street crowds, plunged immediately into the task of reporting on what he had done.

He presided at a special meeting of the war cabinet, giving a detailed account of his conversations with the President and of plans to step up the fight against Hitlerism. He reported also on the world survey made by British and United States experts who attended the historic parleys at sea.

LUNCHEON WITH KING

Next came luncheon with the King, at which the Prime Minister gave His Majesty a letter from President Roosevelt. On the ocean, Mr. Churchill had delivered to the President a message from the King.

The public at large must wait a few days for its report direct from the Prime Minister. Mr. Churchill will broadcast next Sunday at 9 p.m. (1 p.m. Victoria time).

Mr. Churchill arrived in London by train from the port where he disembarked from the battleship Prince of Wales. Although time of his arrival was kept secret, hundreds of Britons were on hand.

Sleepy-eyed cabinet members and high military officials were at the station for the arrival, and with them was U.S. ambassador John Winant.

Mrs. Churchill, wearing a purple suit and grey fur with a red flower, was first to greet the Prime Minister.

At this point a train full of London commuters on the next track recognized the Prime Minister. "Three cheers for Mr. Churchill" yelled an aged man wearing striped pants and a wing collar. A hundred commuters burst into a roar.

Mr. Churchill, puffing on a cigar characteristically clenched in his teeth, with his wife's arm through his, led an impromptu procession up the platform.

Here hundreds of others who realized something unusual was up burst into cheering. The Prime Minister waved back, nodded and smiled. He wore a naval cap and brass-buttoned blue naval jacket.

Mr. Churchill complimented A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, on the way the Royal Navy had managed the trans-Atlantic trip.

"You did it very well," he said.

RELIEF

An obvious feeling of relief over the Prime Minister's safe return from the submarine-infested waters of the Atlantic was reflected in the morning press, which said his mission had been rendered particularly hazardous by premature circulation of reports of the meeting with the President.

The Daily Herald's naval correspondent declared Hitler undoubtedly knew Mr. Churchill was somewhere on the Atlantic and that he ordered his submarines and long-range bombers to find and sink the Prince of Wales at all costs.

"But he failed," the correspondent added.

The British Broadcasting Corporation said the "Germans knew of the meeting, of course," and added there were rumors in London that the Nazis' new 35,000-ton battleship Tirpitz had been sent out in an attempt to intercept the Prince of Wales.

A Reuters correspondent aboard one of the British destroyers which escorted the Prince of Wales back to Britain said that not once on the entire trip was a hostile craft sighted "in the air, on the sea or beneath the sea."

During the eastward crossing of the Atlantic, in which Canadian destroyers also did escort duty, the Prince of Wales went out of her way to give Mr. Churchill a glimpse of a big Britain-bound convoy, the correspondent said.

"It was an incredible sight," he wrote. "As far as the eye could see there were ships—tankers, freighters, supply ships, big ships, little ships—ships of every conceivable size and sort."

New Word?

An "airscape" is a coined word used to describe a picture taken from an airplane. The word may replace the old term of "bird's eye view."

Want Wage Increase, Not Just Bonus

VANCOUVER (CP)—Employees of the American Can Co. Ltd. want union recognition and wage increases—not the cost of living bonus they are now being paid, Robert Friesen, recording secretary of Vancouver Metal Workers' Union, Local No. 1, told a provincial arbitration board here.

Earlier D. N. Hosie, counsel for the company, told the board that the sole issue in a dispute between the company and its employees was the question of union recognition and said that the company was "absolutely opposed" to granting such recognition.

Cross-examined by Walter S. Owen, counsel for the company, Friesen declared "We don't like the bonus system, we don't want it, we've been opposed to it from the start."

What Then?

JAPAN'S CABINET INFORMATION

Bureau's spokesman, Mr. Koh Ishii, announced to the world today that his country could not "remain indifferent" to the shipment of munitions by the United States to Russia through Vladivostok. Several Japanese newspapers have published editorials echoing similar sentiments. One explains that even if British-American supplies fail actually to reach the Soviet Union, "the fact cannot be overlooked" that such aid, at least, "would have the effect of reinforcing" Stalin's troops in the Far East.

Neither Mr. Ishii nor Japanese journalistic spokesmen will expect the British or the United States government to curl up at such a "profound" declaration. Washington and London would naturally like to know, however, just what Japan means by the implied refusal to remain indifferent if and when British and American supplies arrive at Russia's Far Eastern port on their way to the Soviet interior. Have the men of Tokyo reached a decision to block this form of assistance by holding up or destroying the ships that may be carrying it?

The present tension between the Japanese government and the Anglo-American governments has been produced by Nippon's continued activity in the whole Pacific area. Emperor Hirohito's advisers have had much to say in recent months about their "co-prosperity" program for Asia and, so far, they seem to have done well for their country by converting French Indo-China—with the connivance and assistance of the traitors of Vichy—into a base for further operations against neighboring lands in which the English-speaking nations and the Netherlands have a direct interest.

In the light of the implied warning Mr. Ishii has issued today, however, the Allied and associated countries are presumably expected to agree to everything Japan has taken without interruption and be neither seen nor heard when they deem it advisable to take some action in their own interests—whether it be aid to Russia or by such measures as they may consider desirable. But Japan had better make up her mind to the fact that there is a limit to her "heads-I-win-tails-you-lose" game. And what is her alternative to remaining indifferent?

Realism Necessary

LORD BEAVERBROOK IS MENTIONED as the most likely leader of the British delegation that will go to Moscow to participate in discussions between the officials of the United States and Soviet Russia—expected to take place within the next two weeks. He would be assisted, of course, by competent spokesmen for the three branches of the fighting services and such economic and other experts as the nature of the deliberations will determine.

By his record as production chief in Britain the former Canadian has established a reputation for getting things done which adequately equips him to head the British section of the gathering. Staid departmental officials in London found it difficult in the early days of his direction of aircraft production to accustom themselves to his unorthodox methods of procedure. His brutal disregard of formalities which had been observed from the days of the Napoleonic wars offended the susceptibilities of those who could not bring themselves to believe it possible to give an order by telephone and get prompt results. They had become steeped in the policy of everything in writing and in triplicate or other methods similarly laborious and delaying. But the "Beaver" worked his way through all the knots in the maze of "red tape."

Mr. Stalin also would heartily endorse Lord Beaverbrook's selection as head of the British mission. The Soviet chief recalls—as do the British people—the fiasco of the Chamberlain government's handling of the negotiations between London and Moscow in the early days of 1939. The Foreign Office sent Mr. William Strang, a junior under-secretary with but little authority beyond that of a glorified clerk, and Russia spotted the insincerity of the whole business. She did not join the anti-Hitler association. Happily, that belongs to history; Mr. Churchill has surrounded himself with realists. Lord Beaverbrook says what he means and would go to the Russian capital meaning what he says.

Fuehrer Darlan's Plans

AT THE BEGINNING OF THIS MONTH, Marshal Petain announced that "for the sake of my country I am ready to give my popularity," and a few days afterwards he announced his decision to collaborate with Hitler's Germany—politically, economically, and militarily. Just how the aged soldier's popularity suddenly became an object of barter, or what specific relationship it had to selling out his country to its traditional enemy, is not immediately apparent.

Not even Petain's technique of "manoeuvring" and of "sometimes trying to resist" the demands of Berlin has fooled the majority of the French people; they had learned from outside sources how matters stood between the traitors of Vichy and Berlin's schemers in Paris. But when it was fully borne in upon them that Petain had literally turned over practically all his authority to Admiral Darlan they knew a French Fuehrer was about to come into his own. It now rests with them to try, as best they may, to prevent their country from coming completely under the control of Himmler's Gestapo, like Holland and Norway, with familiar penalties for daring to be the same Frenchmen and Frenchwomen who once sang the Marseillaise with all the verve and gusto of a free people.

No sooner had the aged Marshal figuratively nailed the crooked cross above the tricolor, however, than he admitted to his compatriots that he felt an "ill wind rising in many regions of France." And within the last 48 hours the Paris police has warned the population that sabotage on railway lines serving the occupied French capital is threatening food supplies. This is accompanied by an announcement from General Heinrich von Stuepnagel, commander of the Nazi forces in France, that the entire population of all occupied sections, not merely those persons proved guilty of anti-German activities, will be held responsible for such outbreaks as may in future occur.

What Petain has agreed to—apart from his personal belief that France must be punished to be saved—includes the abolition of all political parties, the doubling of police powers and installation of Gestapo methods, the establishment of special courts to speed up trials of those considered responsible for France's downfall of a year ago, and, presumably, the authority for Darlan to appoint his own Gauleiters in accordance with the Nazi administrative pattern. Little Fuehrer Darlan also may place all France's armed forces, plus strategic ports and naval bases, at the disposal of his chief in Berlin.

Nobody in the whole world imagines that the French people, with their age-old rallying cry of "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity," will be held down indefinitely by "government" order from an enemy they have fought three times within the memory of any living in the France of 1941. What an opportunity for Weygand to strike a blow for his country—if he will only take it!

Our Own Business

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S VOTERS WILL be ill advised if they regard the forthcoming provincial election as an unwanted diversion at a time of national emergency. It is the will of the Pattullo government that the people of this province examine its record, weigh its achievements with its shortcomings, and give it new instructions. The present administration was re-elected on June 1, 1937, and its head quite rightly believes that before he proceeds to initiate legislation to give effect to the province's new commitments he should consult the electorate. This is the democratic way.

It may be argued with ample justification that provincial politics, as such, are relatively unimportant at this juncture in Canada's history. But if we in this part of the Dominion are to preserve our democratic methods of doing business, it is our duty—especially as we are to be appealed to for our votes—to give all problems peculiar to British Columbia as much thought and consideration as we are giving to matters of national and Empire importance. To treat lightly the advantages of our free institutions in one part of the country, to ignore the free exercise of the ballot and all its implications, is to help to create that national state of mind which would be dictators use as a stepping-stone to power. Not that Canada fears the introduction of totalitarian methods in her governing bodies, but the safest way to prevent dangerous innovations, harmless though they may appear in their incipient form, is to keep alive a thoroughly active public opinion.

After all, the government across James Bay is the board of directors to whom the people of this province entrust their business, and approximately every four years a meeting of the shareholders is called. Metaphorically speaking, the man or woman entitled to attend that meeting, and deliberately ignores it, has no right to complain of the decision reached should that decision not meet with his or her approval. It is nevertheless often true that the loudest complaints against governments come from people who have not gone to the polling booth on election day.

WAR TO THE KNIFE

From Winnipeg Tribune

You have got to hand it to the Dominion government.

There are those who feel that Ottawa is taking a weak line in conception of manpower and industry. Others criticize Ottawa's failure to grapple with the gasoline problem resolutely. Still others complain of the Dominion's failure to give us an all-out war effort, in this or that respect.

But who, hereafter, will dare to say that the Ottawa stalwarts flinch from using compulsion—even downright dictatorship?

You heard the breathless announcement? Ottawa has cracked down. Canadian bakers hereafter may not sell ready-sliced loaves of bread. And bakers who dare to use multi-colored or double wrappers will rue the day eternally—even if they do not languish in concentration camps.

"The world do move"—even that part of the world by the Rideau Canal and the Ottawa River which seemed so stable.

Hitler may have invented total war but he will blench with regret when he hears about the sliced loaves and multi-colored wrappers. Here is war to the bread knife, indeed.

Ottawa can certainly dish it out when it comes to stern war measures. We hope, we trust, we believe that Canadians will be able to "take it."

WICKED MAGAZINE

HE MUST GET A HAIR CUT, though it is a nuisance to waste so much time from his work.

It is true he will see the magazine in the barber shop; the one with the pictures. It's the magazine he won't allow Johnny to bring into the house. And he has never bought a copy of it himself. He doesn't believe in encouraging that type of literature.

Johnny said the copy confiscated from him was given him by his Uncle Jim. Uncle Jim ought to know better than to give a boy a magazine like that. Very bad for his morals.

Of course there is no harm in a man his age looking at the magazine casually, even though he doesn't buy it. The humor isn't so bad. Just coarse, that's all. In fact he doesn't look at the magazine to enjoy it, but only out of a sense of duty. As a father he ought to know the sort of literature that is passed about.

As a citizen and a serious student of sociological problems it is essential that he keep himself informed on the trend of thought among the masses. By looking at the magazine he may very likely come upon the solution of some knotty problem of behaviorism.

There is no need to feel embarrassment about searching for the magazine in the barber shop. His serious purpose makes its pursuit thoroughly justifiable. Only a few of his puritanical friends would be shocked to see him with the magazine and they are not likely to be around.

Thus after getting himself keyed up to looking at the magazine, what is his disappointment, upon arriving at the barber shop, to find that the only copy there already is being monopolized by another serious student of sociological problems, as fatherly, middle-aged, sedate and dignified as he.

SYNTHETIC VACATION

WHAT WITH THE WORLD and the country in the state they are, many people find it impossible to take a vacation this year. However, it is a simple matter to reproduce at home the experiences you would have at the average summer resort. Just follow these directions:

Move a double bed to the room over the kitchen and charge your wife and yourself $45 a week for it. Put a couple of bricks under the mattress.

When the sun is at its height go up to the roof of your house, spread a bright towel over the tin and lie there until you are painfully burney.

If there is a hill within five or six miles of your home, select the hottest day and hike to the top of it.

Invite all the neighbors to lunch and, when the dining-room door is open, let them rush in. When they are through, eat whatever is left over.

Every time you take a bath charge yourself $1.50 or more for the room in which you undress and dress.

Sit in the garden after sundown and let the mosquitoes bite you. If you are not sufficiently bitten, leave a screen open in your bedroom.

When you feel that you have had enough of this sort of thing, tip generously your cook, garbage man, the man who mows your lawn, the milk man, the bread man, the ice man, the postman and the butter man and resume your normal life.

If this is insufficient to produce the after-vacation sensation of being "dead broke" you might set a match to a handful of $20 bills.

WHERE IT HURTS

It has been a gibe, for months past, that Canadians did not really know there was a war on. Things are beginning to change, however. The ban on machine-sliced bread was the first shadow in the luxurious lives of many modern Canadian families. Now the obvious approach of a complete dearth of silken hose for the female of the species causes more than a fluttering in the doves.

This is, of course, a serious matter. Hitler began it by sending the German women back to the kitchen. He banned all frivolous aids to beauty. Lipstick, rouge, face powder, perfume, and all the little dib dabs, went the way of the silk stocking. The chemicals wasted in assisting nature to make the female the magnet of the male and the envy of the female went into the making of bombs; the silk into making parachutes. The Aryan woman henceforth was to stand on her own feet, without benefit of artificial adornment, as the fit mate for the blond-beast hero who was to conquer the whole world and run it without sentiment.

In this matter, as in others, the Fuehrer has temporarily had his way. We have had to fight his planes with planes, tanks with tanks, rations with rations, and now legs with legs.

But as long as we never pretend that we like it, all is not lost.

KICK-BACK COMING

Evidently the German women are used to being kicked around by their men folk, or they would have staged a revolution on their own account between the years 1933 and 1939. Nobody ever pretended that the Nazi females really liked going around in figureative red flannel underwear, or boots like infantrymen's equipment. That was one reason why the conquest of the countries adjoining Germany was followed by the sweeping clean of the shops, almost as if myriads of locusts had devastated rich fields. Every Nazi soldier knew that nothing could please his womenfolk at home so much as to send them some of the female dainties to which they were accustomed before Hitler arrived.

Before this war is over the whole world will realize, as it has not yet realized, that there is not enough room in the world for the kind of "civilization" which Hitler stands for and that which every intelligent woman wants. It is not, of course, the relatively minor matter of little things like silk stockings. It is that the whole Nazi philosophy of life centres about war, conflict, devastation. It would make of the earth one gigantic arena for ever recurring war. It would make of woman a mere brood sow for the production of never-ending litters of human beings whose real purpose was to see that the future fuhrers never ran out of cannon-fodder.

WOMEN WILL WIN

One does not need to be an astrologer or fortune teller to know that when the great day of reckoning comes in Europe the death warrant of the Nazis will really be written by the women.

Even if the Nazis were able to do that of which Hitler dreams—conquer the whole world—the supremacy of the Nazis would be but a passing period of darkness. This would be so for a hundred reasons. But just one would be enough. That is that in the end the influence of women everywhere will be against Hitler, and all that he typifies.

We have a saying, and a true one, that "you can't keep a good man down." All history is proof of another truth—that in the end what women as a whole want they get.

That is why, when the hour strikes, the Nazi legions which now keep all Europe under the iron heel, will themselves be hunted and harried like wild beasts in every nook and corner of an enslaved continent. All of which is just to say that in the long run the silk stocking packs a more powerful kick than the jack boot.

CBC AGAIN

From Toronto Globe and Mail

Mr. M. J. Coldwell, the C.C.F. leader, has reiterated his demand for a Parliamentary inquiry into the affairs of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The House of Commons has appointed a radio committee almost every year and invariably Mr. Coldwell and others have overlooked grave violations of the fundamental principle of free speech. The C.C.F. leader, while apparently willing to condone the flouting of historic and hard-won rights, makes a star chamber matter out of alleged fiscal mismanagement of the broadcasting corporation.

It is discouraging to think that while we are fighting abroad for freedom we have allowed the government of Canada to deny freedom at home by converting a powerful instrument for public enlightenment into a government agency for political propaganda. The press takes its place in public discussion as one of the defenders of democracy, but freedom of speech does not exist or is an absolute sham if the more modern system of communication namely, the radio, is not free.

Had Mr. Coldwell based his plea for an investigation into the CBC on the curtailment of fundamental privileges of the people, which is beyond the control of the general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, he would have received substantial support from the press of Canada. The right of free speech has been largely scuttled so far as the radio is concerned. This has been accomplished by the government assuming absolute control of the most powerful and far-reaching means of communication in this country.

WEDDINGS

SIMSON-SENKLER

Mr. E. C. Senkler, K.C., of Orchard Avenue, Oak Bay, went over to Vancouver to give away his niece, Nora Chislett, third daughter of Mrs. Senkler and the late J. H. Senkler, K.C., at her marriage on Saturday afternoon to George Simson, elder son of Mr. Calvert Simson and the late Mrs. Simson of Vancouver. The wedding took place at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Archbishop A. U. de Pencier officiating.

The bride, who is a granddaughter of the late Hon. A. E. Richards, one of British Columbia's early Lieutenant-Governors, and a grand-niece of the late Sir William Buell Richards, first Chief Justice of Canada, wore a monotone grey dressmaker suit, with cut steel buttons, and a grey felt, feather-crowned hat with veil, and carried a prayer-book on which were posed orchid-centred lilies. She was attended by Miss Diana Armstrong, who wore a leaf-green frock with matching hat, and wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. William Calvert Simson was best man for his brother and the Messrs. Hedley Smith and Gordon Littler were ushers.

At the reception held at "Horn-ington," Mrs. Senkler's Burnaby Lake home, white heather, pink roses and sweet peas graced the bride's table, at which the bride's sister, Mrs. D. B. Manley, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Harold Senkler presided.

Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Simson left for a honeymoon cruise aboard the "Blue Peter," and will make their home in Vancouver on their return.

ROGERS-TWEEDHOPE

Rogers, Provincial Police, of Grand Forks, B.C., second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Rogers, Campbell River. Rev. J. W. Churchill officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandmother, Mrs. E. Larney, Vancouver, wearing a dove grey lace frock with large blue and blue accessories, and corsage of pink carnations, and was attended by her sister, Miss Winnifred Tweedhope, wearing a pink dress and hat and a corsage of pink carnations. Constable William Kemp, Provincial Police, was best man.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, vases of pink and white carnations, surrounding it. Mrs. Tweedhope received her guests wearing a blue lace gown and matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following a visit with the bridegroom's parents at Campbell River, Constable and Mrs. Rogers will make their home at Grand Forks, B.C.

KENNEDY-BROWN

An event of interest to Victorians was the marriage Saturday evening at St. Andrew's Wesley Church, Vancouver, of Thelma Margaret, elder daughter of Mrs. Doris Brown, and the late Mr. Brown, Vancouver, and Mr. Harold Edwin Kennedy, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kennedy, 2586 Cavendish Ave., Victoria. Rev. J. P. Westman officiated, having read the service at weddings of three generations of the groom's family, his grandmother's, Mrs. Agnes Carr, and Mrs. Cecil Johnston, his aunt's both of Vernon, B.C., before his own.

Three Toronto nursing sisters, who have been enjoying a brief leave in Victoria, left this afternoon for the east to resume their duties. They are Nursing Sister C. C. Hull, whose picture appeared in these columns Saturday, showing her attending a convalescent soldier at Chorley Park Military Hospital, and Nursing Sister A. Ferrier of the same staff, who have been guests at the Empress Hotel; while Nursing Sister D. W. Boyd of the same hospital, has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. George H. Ross, Central Avenue, Oak Bay. Mrs. Ross comes of a family which is well represented in the medical services, her brother, Major J. Boyd of Hamilton being M.O. of the Canadian Engineer Corps now in England, while still another sister, Nursing Sister A. Boyd of Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., has recently been appointed matron of the military hospital in Hamilton.

Miss Milva White Married Today At Oak Bay

Of interest in teaching circles throughout the province was the wedding which drew a large congregation to the Oak Bay United Church this afternoon at 3, when Miss Elizabeth Milva White, a former member of the teaching staff at Greenwood, B.C., became the bride of Mr. William Dennon Reid, of the Consolidated School staff at Hedley, B.C. The bride is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. White of 1334 Mitchell Street, Oak Bay, and granddaughter of Rev. J. H. White, D.D., of Sardis, B.C., and the groom is the only son of Mrs. Reid, 2736 Asquith Street, Victoria, and the late William Reid.

Standard baskets of pink and white gladioli and asters decorated the church. Rev. F. R. G. Dredge performed the ceremony and Mr. L. Partington played the wedding music. As the register was being signed, Mrs. W. H. Wilson sang "My True Love Hath My Heart" (Henry Hadley).

The bride entered the church with her father, wearing a floor-length gown of white sheer, inset with a white satin midriff, the sweetheart neckline finished with a tubular satin bow, the long sleeves shirred at the wrists. In place of the conventional veil she wore a wide-brimmed hat of white sheer with white ribbon band and carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses and gardenias.

Her sister, Miss Edna White, was the only attendant, wearing a floor-length gown of delphinium blue net, the bouffant skirt banded from waist to hem with pink and blue embroidery, the sweetheart neckline and brief puff sleeves being finished with the embroidery. Her crownless Mary Stuart hat of the blue net was banded over the hair with pink satin ribbons, which fell in long streamers at the back, and she carried a bouquet of pink antirrhinum and carnations with blue scabiosa. Mr. Eric Lewis was best man, and Messrs. Lorne Rowbottom, Ronald Jeune and Leonard Denton were ushers.

A number of guests, including Miss Irene Inglis of Greenwood, Miss Betty Petrie of Kelowna, Miss Ruth White, Vancouver, and Mrs. M. E. Keith, New Westminster, were welcomed at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony. Against a background of standard baskets filled with pink and white flowers, Mrs. White received in a street-length dress of deep rose crepe, with wide-brimmed hat of white straw, and white accessories, assisted by Mrs. Reid, attired in pale rose crepe with matching hat and white accessories. Both wore corsage bouquets of roses.

The buffet luncheon was served in the adjoining garden at the home of Mrs. W. C. Fyfe, the table, placed under the trees, being centred with the wedding cake and arranged with sweetheart roses and tall white tapers in crystal candelabra. Mr. H. O. English proposed the toast to the bride.

Lady Bowhill, who has the rank of flight officer, will be in command of three other members of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, working in the cipher and code office of Sir Frederick's command, which he assumed recently. She said in an interview here today that she has been serving under her husband since the outbreak of war. Asked what it was like to take orders from her husband, Lady Bowhill replied: "When I am on duty I take orders. At home I give them."

Lady Bowhill said she began preparing for her W.A.A.F. post at the time of the Munich crisis by attending special classes in code and cipher with other British women. When war was declared they volunteered and were accepted at once.

Nightly Miss Kyle sprinkles herself with gasoline, ignites it and dives 80 feet into a tank of water covered with flaming gasoline at Palisades Park, N.J.

Constitutionalists Worried Because Canada Not Consulted

By NORMAN MACLEOD

OTTAWA — Will the final fate of the Churchill-Roosevelt meeting be to provoke a free-for-all for the multipartied constitutionalists on Parliament Hill?

That prospect is definitely in the making. It is in the making under the surface of sincere gratification that is felt here over the Atlantic rendezvous.

Unquestionably, Parliament Hill's sentiment of the moment is an intense satisfaction that the British Prime minister and the United States president at last have met face to face. There is an intuitive feeling here that this first episode of personal contact is destined to be historic—that is the prelude, so to speak, of an even closer association in the immediate future between the English-speaking democracies.

NO RESENTMENT

Furthermore, there is no resentment in government circles over the fact per se that Canada's prime minister was not included in the meeting. It is realized that, in all probability, issues of the Far East and the Pacific were discussed no less than problems of the Atlantic, and that it would have been improper for one Dominion prime minister to be present to the exclusion of others at least equally interested.

QUESTIONS MARKS

But, having said this much, frankness and truth compel the admission that among constitutionalists on Parliament Hill the Atlantic meeting has left some highly disconcerting question marks in its wake. There is the

Visitors at Sunshine Camp

The 'teen-age girls' party at present at the Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp, Saseenos, have been fortunate in having the interest of two special visitors. On Sunday morning the girls gathered for an informal worship service under the large maple tree to hear Miss Elda Daniels, director of the Oriental Home, Victoria, speak of her experiences in Korea. Two little visitors from the Home were also present, dressed in brightly-colored native costumes. Miss Daniels emphasized the point that underneath their various colored skins, people were much the same everywhere. She hoped that even though Canada's political relationship with Japan was becoming somewhat strained, that Canadian young people would look upon Canadian-born Orientals as friends.

This evening the girls will be visited by Alderman W. H. Davies, chairman of the Sunshine Camp committee of the Family Welfare Association, who plans to take with him Mr. D. Flintoff and his moving pictures.

Letters to the Editor

ANTI-RIP VAN WINKLE

It is with the spirit of restraint and yet with a feeling of deep emotion that I pen these lines hoping, at least, that perhaps some of our citizens will wake up to the following facts and will arouse themselves from their Rip Van Winkle sleep:

War in the Pacific is not far distant—what are we in the province doing about it? Have we any defences here—if so, what do they amount to? Why are we not adequately fortifying Vancouver Island? How about casualties—have we enough hospital accommodation to care for the many who will need that care, both from the forces and from the civilian population? What representations, if any, has our city council made to the provincial government concerning these matters? We have the doctors, the finest in the country, and they should not be hindered by inadequate hospital accommodation. Is the council, like the provincial government, dead from the feet up? How many air-raid shelters have we in the province?

Do we, as a people, console ourselves with the stock phrase, "It can't happen here"? I say to you, as I did 23 years ago, that it will happen here, and that you cannot avoid it. Why do I say this? I'll tell you the reason. Like the ostrich, we have buried our heads in the sand; we have worshipped the golden calf, and have neglected our fellowman.

In the years gone by we have failed to make the necessary preparations for defence, and have allowed our youths to go on the dole. And what a tragedy it was to many homes. We cared not for the stranger within our gates. Let us rectify our mistakes. It is not too late.

A. R. BERRY.

ONLY A SYMBOL

Stella M. Jennings has written an extraordinary letter. How can any "basic fundamental laws behind the universe" be God. And how can they be blasphemy? One might as well speak of blaspheming the law of gravity. It is more absurd even than the theory of some universal abstract intelligence that has no source and is unconscious of its own existence. One might as well think of thought without a thinker, of music without a maker and of beauty where nothing is.

The saying that man was made in the image of God has no reference to his physical form. It refers to the divine "spark" in man, which is often seen in spite of lower attributes.

If we picture God, either physically or mentally, it is in human form because that is the highest form we know. If "God is a spirit" then physical form is ruled out. If used, it is only a symbol.

The story of the judge and the bishop has every mark of an invention. Bishops don't boast of their power to damn, and don't believe they have it, except in the sense we all have—the sense meant in the expression "damned with faint praise." In that sense your correspondent has certainly damned Mr. Holdercroft and many others.

Neither do judges boast of their power to hang.

British Waistcoats, Braces, Cuffs May Go

LONDON (AP)—Bond Street tailors who regard themselves as arbiters of men's styles have received with admirable calm a suggestion for a national suit, which conceivably would have struck them with horror in peace time.

The idea is to furnish Britishers with a suit which will save cloth and labor. It is the brain-child of S. Klein, managing director of one of London's snootiest stores.

Here is the idea. A short single-breasted four-buttoned coat and the elimination of the cherished waistcoat or, as Americans say, vest. Linings would be whittled down and there would be only one button on each sleeve. Pockets would be without flaps.

The pants would have no cuffs. There would be no buttons for suspenders or what the British call braces, and there wouldn't be belt loops. Klein says there are certain self-supporting details which will save the day.

So all the Englishman needs is money, clothing coupons and hips enough to keep up the pants—or what the British call trousers.

GIRLS FROM KENT GREET DUKE

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—The Duke of Kent arrived here today to continue his tour of war industries and military centres after two restful days at the island home of the late R. W. Kneeland near Kenora.

Yesterday the duke met seven young "Victory Visitors" from Kent, England, on a Lake of the Woods Island.

It was an unscheduled meeting, a pause in a six-hour cruise of the lake that climaxed the duke's week-end stopover at the summer home of the late E. W. Kneeland.

OUT FOR DURATION

The seven "victory guests" were holidaying at the Treaty Point camp for girls. They were 'teen-aged or younger, all formerly students at Beneden school for girls in Kent. They have been living in Winnipeg since early in the war.

Their names: Patricia Northcote, daughter of the Hon. Mrs. Northcote, and granddaughter of Lady Cunliffe; Jane Swithbank, Marjorie Mann, Valerie Hall, Anne Kingsley and Jill and Camilla Riddell.

LOVE CANADA

Fifteen other girls at the camp and Mr. and Mrs. John Denny, the camp managers, chatted with the duke during his stay.

The duke asked each girl her name and where her parents lived. Unanimously they declared they "just loved" Canada and were having "top-hole holidays."

Saanich Well System Advocated as Saving

Saanich Municipality is faced with the choice of installing its own water system now or of building a reservoir system soon and continuing to buy water from the city, Reeve L. H. Passmore and Councillor E. C. Warren told a meeting of ratepayers last night.

"Take your share of a Greater Victoria waterworks system and you'll have to take your share of its liabilities," Councillor Warren, chairman of the Saanich water committee, declared, "and even then you'll have to buy your water."

Mr. Warren explained that the municipality was asking permission from its ratepayers at the forthcoming plebiscite to borrow $350,000, of which $320,000 would be used for reservoirs and a pipe system which would be needed in any event during the next few years, and $30,000 for wells and pumping equipment.

"In our estimates, we have gone high on every item," Mr. Warren said. "However, if the cost should go over $350,000, we shall have a surplus of $14,000 a year after 1944 which could be applied."

The councillor said the whole well project had been passed by the provincial government and that delivery of pipe had been guaranteed, provided an order was given within a specified time.

UNDERGROUND SYSTEM

In the United States, 75 per cent of domestic systems were getting water from underground sources, Mr. Warren declared.

He added that underground sources were expected to become still more popular because of the remote chance of contamination.

He ridiculed claims that pumping of water from the wells was lowering the level of Elk Lake. "If you go to the overflow from Elk Lake," he said "you'll find that from 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 gallons of water a day are running off. And moreover, the pumps at the wells have been operated only once in six months."

All nine wells of the proposed system have been passed by the provincial health officer as to freedom from contamination, Mr. Warren said.

"Don't you think," he asked, "that there is less chance of contamination when the water passes through miles of nature's filter than when it passes, from an open lake, through a few hundred cubic yards of man-made filter?"

Reeve Passmore said that on September 20 Saanich would have an opportunity to gain control of its first public utility.

He said the municipality had been assured it could get $350,000 over 29 years at an interest rate of 4 per cent a year. Average cost of the system per year over the period, including repayment of principal, interest, and operation costs, was estimated at $30,579 a year.

Actual cost of water from the city, including the cost of pumping and computing the cost at the disputed rate of 9.37 cents

Esquimalt Briefs

Housing Plans For Ship Workers

The problem of housing accommodation for employees of Yarrow's Limited new shipbuilding yards was the main subject of discussion at last night's Esquimalt Council meeting.

Result of the discussion was an invitation to officials of Wartime Housing Limited, a Dominion government-owned company which has undertaken supplying of low-cost nonpermanent houses in large numbers for war industries in Canada, to interview the council.

Representatives of the company in Vancouver will be asked to attend a special meeting of the council, which will be called at their convenience.

A representative of Yarrow's Limited met with the council last night and pointed out the need for housing accommodation for shipbuilding workers who will be employed in large numbers soon at Esquimalt.

A petition signed by 50 present employees of the company was submitted, stating the need for places in which to live near the shipyards.

It was explained that Wartime Housing Limited, through local contractors, constructed cheap houses on temporary foundations. The company's scheme had been adopted at the North Vancouver ship building yards and at Prince Rupert.

Reeve Alex Lockley said the municipality did not want a lot of shacks or cabins constructed which would be left vacant after the war.

"We cannot put any obstacles in the way of the ship building industry here, though," he added. Colville Street was one site suggested for the construction of the miniature town for the ship builders but nothing definite was decided upon.

"We would have to give the land tax free," the Reeve said. "Why?" asked Councillor Albert Head.

"The need for houses is so per 1,000 gallons, would be approximately $32,600 a year, Reeve Passmore said.

He said that at certain times, under the present system, parts of Saanich were seriously short of water, creating both a fire hazard and a health hazard.

Further meetings at which Saanich ratepayers may hear the proposed well system explained and ask questions will be held almost nightly until the eve of the plebiscite. Reeve Passmore and Councillor Warren will address a meeting tonight at 8 at Cloverdale School. A meeting will be held on Thursday evening in the Cadboro Bay Scout Hall.

great and the industry so vital," was the reply.

The Esquimalt Community Club informed the council that due to financial difficulties band concerts in the Memorial Park would be cancelled.

G. H. Sedger, municipal solicitor, said the council had no power to order removal of a trailer house which had been parked on premises on Esquimalt Road.

"It cannot be said the trailer or the use of it is a nuisance or is dangerous to public safety or health and there has been no breach of the existing by-laws," the solicitor said.

On motion of Councillor Fred Eaton it was decided to ask the B.C. Union of Municipalities to take steps to secure legislation which would give municipalities more power in such cases.

The B.C. Electric Railway Company will be granted licenses for two more buses to operate in the municipality. The company already had licenses for nine buses.

A by-law will be introduced at the next meeting concerning prohibiting of car parking in certain localities.

The Department of National Defence requested prohibition of parking on Head Street from Work Point Barracks gate to Gore Street and on Lyall Street from Head Street to Gore Street.

Councillor Eaton suggested no parking rules be enforced at Esquimalt and Dunsuir Roads.

The chief of police will investigate certain localities preliminary to the drawing up of the by-law.

Action of the City Council in instructing its delegates to the coming convention of the B.C. Union of Municipalities that they "bring before the convention the question of securing efficient local control over weights and measures with particular reference to fuel" was endorsed.

G. Pullen, the municipal clerk, and Mr. Sedger, the solicitor, were given power to co-operate with the city delegates in the matter.

Leslie Wentland was sold a lot and a part of a lot on Admirals Road for $150. Offer from the Active Fuel Company of $400 for property off Dominion Road was accepted.

A request from the Department of National Services that the municipal garbage department co-operate in the salvaging of animal fats to replace the loss of importation of vegetable fats due to war conditions, was referred to the chairman of works.

It was pointed out that animal fats could be obtained from bones and household fats, cooked or uncooked.

MUCH-SCRAMBLED local box lacrosse situation received a little more shaking up yesterday with the announcement from Vancouver the Alerts had won their appeal to the British Columbia association on the decision of the local executive on a protest lodged by the Jokers. At the time the protest was upheld, we along with a good many others, expressed surprise at the ruling. So now it will be the Alerts and James Bay in the final playoff.

Most surprised of all over the decision of the provincial moguls appeared to be members of the Alerts club. The boys all admitted they had gone around the last couple of days with their fingers crossed but had grave doubts about the result. Needless to say they were all happier than a June bride when the result was announced. Alerts just figured it was like getting a delayed Christmas present.

On the other hand it was a sad blow to the championship hopes of Manager Gus Munro and his Jokers. No doubt there will be no little hard feeling and it is only to be expected. But the Jokers must remember they only got into the sixth game because of a protest. In passing we must remind the Jokers of the old saying: "Never count your chickens before they're hatched." If they had, that victory celebration of Friday night would have been stalled off until the protest air was clear.

With the Alerts moving into the final, Lynn Patrick's plans have taken a setback. The New York Rangers hockey star, one of the mainstays of the Alerts' defence, had planned to pull out this week with his wife and baby for New York to prepare for the opening of the hockey season. Now Lynn will remain in the city until the lacrosse finals are completed. "I hate to see us win this way and really think we should play the Jokers another deciding game," Lynn stated.

In speaking of the Patrick's, Lester left the city last week en route to New York. The vice-president of Madison Square Garden will start work on hockey plans for the coming winter after spending several weeks resting in his home town.

A 4,000-mile airplane trip to pitch one ball game. That's what Satchel Paige, world's greatest negro ball player, did to reach Seattle for tonight's game between the Kansas City Monarchs and House of David. After the Monarchs, claimants of the world college championship, suffered a defeat at the hands of the Davids in Seattle, they sent for Paige to work on the mound in a return engagement. It will be Satchel's only appearance in the Pacific Northwest, which will make him the only pitcher ever to fly such a distance "one appearance."

Baseball fans have often wondered just how good is the tall, shuffling negro who measures six feet three inches in height, weighs 175 pounds and has the biggest feet of any athlete in the business. Innumerable baseball experts and stars in the white major leagues have said Paige would be the greatest pitcher in the game if the big leagues admitted negro players to their ranks.

Paige, himself, is absolutely confident he could win 35 games a season in either league, for he has, upon barnstorming occasions, made monkeys out of some of the best batsmen in the American and National Leagues.

New Army Law Helps Baseball

Greenberg to Return

NEW YORK (AP)—The new United States army draft law, setting an age ceiling of 28 years for selective service recruits is expected to ease the strain that was beginning to be felt in the major baseball leagues.

Besides providing a way for Corporal Hank Greenberg to exchange his army uniform for the garb in which he became a celebrated national figure, the law will make possible deferment of a number of other prominent players who were in line for future call.

Greenberg, home-run star of the Detroit Tigers for many years, was 30 last January 1. He was inducted into the army May 7 and since has been stationed at Camp Custer in Michigan. The Tigers had agreed to pay him his salary of $55,000 this season.

Hugh Mulcahy, leading pitcher of Philadelphia Phillies last season, apparently does not come within the scope of the law which provides that soldiers who had reached the age of 28 before July 1 might apply for discharge. Mulcahy will become 28 September 1.

Beau Bell of Cleveland Indians, 32 years old comes within the act. Joe Marty, outfielder of the Phillies, will be 28 September 1 and can now look forward to ferment. Don Padgett of St. Louis Cardinals will be 28 December 5. Most major league players 28 years old or over are married, of course, or have other dependents and already have been given deferred classification.

The status of the younger men has not been changed. Bob Feller of the Indians may be called sometime during the fall or winter. Sam Chapman, slugging outfielder of Philadelphia Athletics, has passed physical examination for the naval aviation corps and plans to enlist at the close of the season. He is 25.

Pitcher Mickey Harris of Boston Red Sox, aged 23, and second baseman Carver Rowell of Boston Braves, aged 25, both have been classified 1-A and await call.

ERNIE PEDEN WINS

With a net score of 23, Ernie Peden won the hidden-hole competition at the Gorge Vale Golf Club over the week-end. Bob Peden and J. Goodman tied for runner-up with scores of 24.

Tomorrow evening a two-ball foursome will be played, while the first round of the Calcutta two-ball foursomes will be played on Sunday.

The New York Zoo has established an Africa-in-the-Bronx, grouping 20 kinds of African animals in a roomy African plains setting.

Cleveland's Collapse Surprise of Baseball

Airmen Score Baseball Win

Ballplayers from the Royal Canadian Air Force made their first local appearance a winning one last night by handing Pitzer & Nex a 5 to 1 setback in an exhibition clash.

The airmen played airtight ball behind the four-hit pitching of southpaw Appleby. The latter struck out six and showed a nice turn of speed and good curve ball. Four runs scored in a fifth inning rally decided the game.

The air force nine collected 11 hits off the combined offerings of Harper, Nicol, R. Maitland and Murray.

Batteries—Appleby and Julian; Harper, Nicol, R. Maitland, Murray and Cosier.

Eagles won the second division city championship last night, defeating the Navy 10 to 4 for their third victory. The lodgement take possession of the Humphreys Cup for the next 12 months.

Scroggs, in addition to handling the pitching duties, clouted a three-run homer in the sixth inning.

UNITYS WIN

Scoring four runs in the first inning and five counters in the seventh, Unitys last night defeated Cardinals 9 to 7 in a women's senior B softball play-off at Central Park.

The Cards led 5 to 4 at the end of the second inning and in the fourth added another duo of runs to make the score 7 to 4. But in the seventh the Unitys pounded the ball to all corners of the field as five girls crossed the plate and they went into the lead by a 9 to 7 score.

L. Moore and M. Macfarlane comprised the winning battery and M. McCulloch and T. Bradford did the heavy duty for the Cards.

In a bout several weeks ago Murdoch won the decision from Turner. Several other inter-city bouts have been lined up for what looks like a promising card. The show will start at 8.

Indians in Bad Slump, Are Fourth

The most mystifying development of the big league baseball season is what has happened to Cleveland Indians.

This is the team that many persons picked to win the American League pennant. At one stage of the race it was seven full games out in front.

This is the team that finished one game away from the championship in 1941 and couldn't miss in 1941. This is the team that has lost 12 of its last 13 decisions, that has sunk to fourth place and is still sinking.

They lost a 4 to 2 affair to Washington last night to let the Senators climb out of a tie for the cellar. In desperation, manager Roger Peckinpaugh started a rookie named Steve Gromek, who was acquired last week from the class "D" Michigan State League. He walked a couple and gave up three singles and a double for three Washington runs in the third inning and after that the game was no contest.

LOSE TWO PLAYERS
The Indians got some more bad news yesterday with word that a couple of their star players may be lost for the season.

Hal Trosky, currently hitting .264, went on the shelf for "at least several weeks" as Dr. E. B. Castle, club physician, found the first baseman received a double fracture on the left thumb in his collision with Ted Lyons in the first game of Sunday's double-header at Chicago.

Shortstop Lou Boudreau, generally regarded as the Tribe's sparkplug although he is batting only .256, has a possible incisional hernia—a rupture of an incision for the appendectomy he underwent last fall. He strained his side in the seventh inning of Sunday's opener.

Brooklyn Dodgers succeeded in inflating their suddenly acquired National League lead to a full game as St. Louis Cardinals were idle. The Dodgers beat Pittsburgh Pirates 6 to 5 on Pete Reiser's home run in the ninth inning.

The defeat was Pittsburgh's sixth in eight games and bumped the Buccaners out of third place in the senior circuit as Cincinnati Reds came up with a double-decker triumph over the Phillies.

The Reds won the first game 13 to 5 with a 14-hit offensive that was concentrated for 10 runs in the first two innings. Then they came from behind with a four-run seventh-inning rally to capture the second session 5 to 4.

Gene Thompson pitched nine-hit ball and fanned nine in the latter game.

New York's in-and-out Giants tumbled the tottering Chicago Cubs in both ends of a double-header, 6 to 4 and 7 to 1.

Known History of Moscow Goes Back 800 Years

Moscow! That is the city to which Russians have looked most of the time through the centuries. It is the largest of all Russian cities, with a population above 4,000,000.

The known history of Moscow goes back about 800 years. There probably was a village of some sort at the same spot on the Moskva river even longer ago than that, but we do not have clear records of it.

Cathedral of St. Basil in Moscow

For a time Moscow was the centre of an area ruled by a prince. This prince was under the power of the Mongols. The emperor, or khan, of the Mongols was his "overlord."

As the years passed, the princes of Moscow gained more power. A much larger area of land was placed under them, but the khan was still their overlord.

At last the Muscovites (or Russians) rose in revolt against the khan. The struggle was long and hard, but in the end they won their freedom. Their ruler was called a "grand prince" until Ivan IV had himself crowned "czar." He is known in history as "Ivan the Terrible."

The title of "czar" came from the last name of Julius Caesar, the ancient Roman leader. The old German and Austrian title of "kaiser" also grew from Caesar's name.

Under Czar Ivan, Moscow kept its place as the chief city of the Russians. Its power became even greater. Moscow has been compared to a city of the "Arabian Nights." In some ways it looks like places to be found in the Orient. There are old walls, and many of the churches have golden domes, with green, red and blue spires rising amidst them. An old name is "Holy Mother Moscow with the White Walls."

Moscow is one of the world's melting-pots. When I visited it in 1930, I saw people wearing many kinds of costumes of its streets. Some of them had come from parts of Russian Asia.

Since Hitler started his drive on Moscow, much has been written about the burning of Moscow in the time of Napoleon. That took place in 1812, but the city was built up again the next year.

Through its history, Moscow has been attacked fairly often. It was burned as long ago as 1382. Each time, after a capture, it has risen again.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

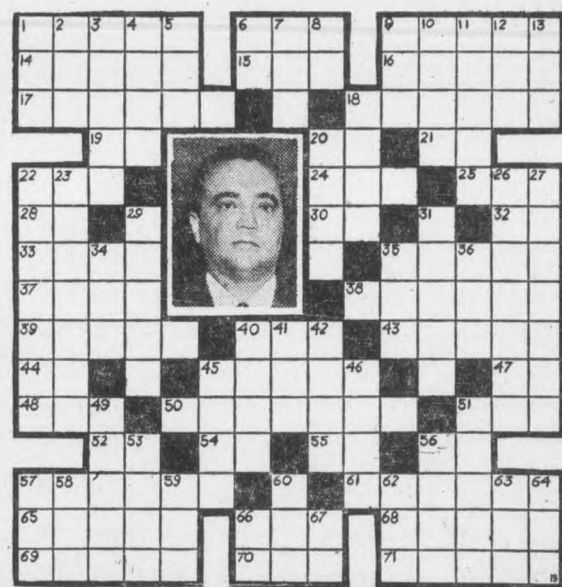

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a woman in my middle thirties and have been married over 10 years. Last summer my husband left me because of an affair he was having with a young woman in his office. He said he left so that he could make up his mind which one of us he wanted. Since then I have been dating him as before we were married, but he spends every week-end with this Other Woman. Recently he took me away for a week and he seemed like the man I had married and we really had a grand time, yet the next week-end he spent with his lady love, who is a divorcee with two children. My husband has confided to me that he is contemplating a new job, out of town, and said it would mean so much to both of us, as it would take him away from this Other Woman. I want to believe him, but I have caught him in so many lies I am afraid. Now what shall I do? Shall I continue seeing him and wait and see if the new position materializes, or shall I stop seeing him entirely? I am at my wit's end because I still love him and want him back again.

Answer: Your husband must, indeed, be a fascinator if he can keep two women sitting on the anxious seat waiting to see which one will get him when he decides between them. I should think you would be glad to be rid of a man with such fickle tendencies, but inasmuch as you do crave the poor thing you have taken the best method of getting him back.

You appear to have had sense enough to take your husband's infidelity with philosophy. You have evidently put a good face on his affairs, or else he would not have been dating you and enjoyed taking you out. If I should add a word of advice to your program, it would be for you to be a little bit more casual and indifferent and make him feel that you can take him or leave him. For it is always the woman he isn't sure of that appeals to that type of man.

Typographical Head on Island

NANAIMO—Claude M. Baker, president of the International Typographical Union, who is presiding at the convention in Vancouver this week, was present at Newcastle Island on Sunday when 1,300 convention delegates were entertained at a picnic on the island by members of the Nanaimo Typographical Union.

In thanking members of the local union for their hospitality, Mr. Baker stated that his organization, with 81,000 members, knew no boundary line on the North American continent. He spoke of the world uncertainties of the present time, and said we should be especially grateful that we could hold a meeting in one of the most beautiful spots in the world undisturbed.

"We are grateful to the people of British Columbia for the welcome they have extended to us, and we Americans feel that the day is rapidly approaching when we will both go all-out to insure our right to live as we want to live, and continue to have days like we are enjoying today when we wish to," concluded Mr. Baker.

Mayor Victor B. Harrison welcomed the delegates.

Policing Province

NANAIMO (CP)—A resolution that the Union of British Columbia Municipalities take under advisement the question of urging the provincial government to take over the entire administration of justice in the province with the exception of the metropolitan areas of Vancouver and Victoria, was adopted by city council here last night.

It was also suggested that the matter be referred to the executive of the union to assemble data and submit a report with recommendations at the next annual convention.

ISLAND PIONEER

NANAIMO (CP)—A funeral service will be held Wednesday for Joseph Fort, 72-year-old pioneer Nanaimo resident who died here Sunday.

A native of France, Fort came here 53 years ago to work in the mines at nearby East Wellington. Later he went into partnership with William Quinn and operated hotels here. He retired 19 years ago. He was a member of Harmony Lodge, I.O.O.F., of Lady-smith, B.C., for 50 years.

Fort leaves his widow, four sons, Phillip, Louis and Fernand, all of Nanaimo, and Emil of Great Central Lake, B.C., and a daughter, Mrs. Fred Foster of Morain, Alta. A sister, Mrs. William Quinn, lives in Vancouver.

Elect Officers

NANAIMO (CP)—J. G. Musgrave, Vancouver, was elected district chief ranger for a two-year term, as the annual convention of the British Columbia district, Ancient Order of Foresters, entered its final day today.

Vancouver was chosen for the 1942 convention, to be held in August.

Other officers named for two-year terms were: Charles Jordan, Victoria, district sub-chief ranger; J. W. Wilson, Vancouver, district treasurer; N. Wright, Nanaimo, district secretary; Daniel Hargreaves, Vancouver, juvenile district chief ranger and Sidney McClean, North Vancouver, juvenile past district chief ranger.

Mayor V. B. Harrison, Nanaimo, opened the annual banquet last night at which H. N. Freeman presided.

POLICE ASSIST IN CUTTING GAS

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer announced today B.C. police are carrying out special duties in connection with the gasoline conservation campaign and added that provincial services are fully seized of the gasoline emergency.

The Attorney-General said that when the gas reduction plan was launched G. R. Cottrell, the federal oil controller, asked for police co-operation and this was fully assured. The B.C. police service has been provided with Mr. Cottrell's instructions and is carrying out supervision work.

In his recent tour of the province, Mr. Wismer said, he had noted a general tendency on the part of provincial services to co-operate fully in cutting down gasoline consumption.

He urged the general motorist to co-operate with police in keeping gasoline use down to a minimum.

"We must all pull together in this thing, which amounts to a national emergency," he said.

Fireman Collapses At Saanich Blaze

Running to call the fire hall for more men and equipment to fight a grass and bush fire which got out of control yesterday afternoon on Raper's Farm, Burnside Road, Fireman Paul Anderson of the Saanich department collapsed and required doctor's attention.

The fire broke out Sunday afternoon. The department had a crew of firemen at the scene Sunday night, yesterday and last night. The blaze was got under control yesterday morning but broke out again at 2 in the afternoon.

Anderson had been fighting the difficult fire which covered a large area of rocky and bushy land with four other firemen. His collapse was blamed on the fact he had breathed a lot of smoke and was over-tired. His condition today was reported satisfactory.

The fire was still giving trouble today and firemen expected to be at the scene again tonight to make sure it does not break out again.

The city department attended two grass fires of smaller proportions yesterday. One was at McBride Avenue and Field Street at 3:40 in the afternoon and the second was at Quadra and Fisgard Streets at 5:55 in the evening.

BLOOM LASTS ONE NIGHT

To bloom in their glory for one night is the fate of each blossom on the night-blooming cactus at the Crystal Garden.

Blooming in groups of two and three at a time over a period of several days, each lasts one night. After sunset, the bloom starts to open, and for the remainder of the night continues to grow until reaching full size. Before sunrise it wilts and dies.

This year there were 32 blooms on the plant, each ranging from nine to 14 inches in length. They are trumpet shaped, and are pure white, with a yellow centre.

This large cactus was presented to the Crystal Garden over 15 years ago by a lady from one of the southern states where the cacti grow. Now, after expert care, the plant is 24 feet wide, and has been trained along the side of the interior of the building. It stands seven feet high.

Minister Speaks on Unapparent Senses

Speaking on senses other than sight, hearing, taste, smell and touch, Rev. W. J. Johnston of Toronto addressed the Kiwanis Club today.

Mr. Johnston spoke of the simple things of life and showed the gatherings where people had been endowed with senses other than the five apparent ones. He mentioned the senses of humor, public interest, vocation, unity and friendship.

The speaker said all people should have a sense of humor and described it as a sane and sunny attitude toward life. "If we are the image of God," he remarked, "then surely the Great Divine must have a sense of humor. In this time of world crisis we need it."

Mr. Johnston stated that in the schools, playgrounds, homes, churches and workshops of a community there was a sense of public interest. To keep it, he said, the people must fight all things threatening it. He spoke briefly on the sense of unity, mentioning that four years ago no such condition reigned in Canada, but because of a gigantic and common foe the populace of the country had been drawn together.

The speaker talked on the sense of vocation, saying that people should not be ashamed to work because God, himself, was a great workman. "There is a difference between a job and a vocation," he said. "A job is a vocation if it is used to bring happiness to others."

On mentioning the sense of friendship Mr. Johnston stated that God was a friend and that friendship was one of the most wonderful and precious senses.

Clothing Shipment Weighs 4,800 Lbs.

The weight of the last shipment of the Victoria centre of the Bundles for Britain organization amounted to 4,800 pounds. This represented clothing of all types in good state of repair and cleanliness.

Officials at the bundles offices on Bastion Street said today that the clothing for men and children was the most needed, especially warm woollens. British authorities have requested the local committee and other committees in the country not to send cotton goods but to specialize in warm woollens.

On Friday Mrs. E. W. Hamber paid a visit to the Victoria headquarters and inspected the offices and work and packing rooms.

Women Given Opportunity

Major Smellie Finds Eagerness to Serve

"We have given the women of Canada their opportunity. It is now up to them to demonstrate their capabilities in the service of their country," said Matron Elizabeth Smellie, organizing supervisor of the newly-formed Canadian Women's Auxiliary Army Corps, when interviewed today concerning the feminine war force.

"Personally," she added, "I am convinced the women of this country will respond readily to the call and acquit themselves handsomely."

Miss Smellie, following her arrival by steamer yesterday afternoon, proceeded direct to Work Point to confer with General R. O. Alexander, G.O.C.-in-chief, Military District No. 11, attended by Lieut. R. McBean, M.C., aide-de-camp.

Later she discussed organizational plans with representatives of women's organizations, including Mrs. Norman Kennedy, provincial commandant, B.C. division, Canadian Red Cross Women's Voluntary Service Corps; Mrs. Harold Nation, Vancouver, commandant of the corps, and Dr. Isobel Day, Vancouver, provincial commandant, British Columbia Women's Ambulance Corps.

The organizing supervisor expects to be a very busy woman during the course of her Canadian tour, which, incidentally, begins at Victoria.

FLEW TO MAINLAND

After breakfasting at the Empress this morning with her secretary, Miss Ruth Crealock, Matron Smellie took the 9:30 plane to Vancouver, to meet representatives of women's organizations on the mainland.

She will fly back again at 5 this evening for further conferences here. Recruiting is not being done by Miss Smellie on her tour. She spoke very definitely about this, stating that applications for enlistment would be made through the War Service Department at Ottawa. Organization work in this military district will come under General Alexander.

WANTS INFORMATION

"I haven't come here to dominate anyone or any group," said Miss Smellie. "My purpose is to gather points of view. I am open to receive all information possible in connection with this scheme, and what information I can give, I will readily do so."

She explained that the primary role of the corps is to replace army personnel in noncombatant activities with women, thus enabling the latter to perform other and more important duties and generally to make available trained, efficient and disciplined personnel for duty on various branches of public service.

There will be plenty of applicants for service, Miss Smellie has no doubt. The difficulty will be in choosing women best qualified for service. The age of enlistment will be between 21 and 40. The initial number to be recruited will be 830.

There is no telling what may evolve from the scheme as it develops. As the organization proceeds the number of women to be enlisted will be increased to 1,500, or even more. At present the girls will be signed on for service in Canada in any capacity for which they may be most fitted.

Many applications, however, have been received from women who are eager to go overseas. Miss Smellie intimated the opportunities to serve would be boundless as the scheme developed. An army of women overseas, serving in prescribed categories, was feasible.

Sees Educators With Democracies

Back from a 10-day conference of the New Education Fellowship at Ann Arbor, Michigan, Dr. Herbert B. King, chief inspector of schools for B.C., declared today: "The educationists of Latin America are passionately on our side in the struggle."

"They know," he said, "that dictatorships suppress all forms of progressive education and they are heart and soul with the democratic cause."

Among the 1,000 delegates at the conference were 120 from the Latin-American countries, he said, and they showed a particular desire to know more of Canada.

War conditions stopped European educators from attending, except for Prof. I. A. Richards of Cambridge, Eng., and two German professors, Dr. Reinhold Schirer and Dr. Kurt Kastner, who escaped the Nazi clutches and are now working with British and U.S. educationists and governments.

Dr. King said the conference had made a real contribution toward hemispheric solidarity and the democratic front.

"English-speaking educators established personal friendly relations with many noted Latin Americans," he said. "Plans were made for more cultural contacts between the two."

He said the Latin-Americans all told of the intense Nazi propaganda in their countries, despite suppressive measures. Pamphlets were distributed surreptitiously in the manner of Jehovah's Witness material in Canada.

After the conference Dr. King conducted a seminar on supervision for New Brunswick inspectors.

Doubles Penalty for Liquor to Indians

Fines of $100 or two months in jail were imposed on Thomas Johnston and John Allan when they pleaded guilty in City Police Court today to supplying an intoxicant to an Indian.

"There has been an increase in this particular offence lately, so much so that I've been doubling the penalty," said Magistrate Henry C. Hall in sentencing Johnston. "I'm going to impose the same in your case, and if this sort of thing goes on, the penalty will be made more severe."

Constable L. Greenwood said he and Constable W. Falkner caught the accused on Johnson Street giving liquor to the Indians yesterday afternoon.

James Jimmy and Joseph George said they paid the accused for liquor they had received from them.

In 1869 he went to San Francisco and later established a ranch in Ventura County, upon which oil was discovered about 30 years ago.

A great traveler, he had circled the globe twice, visited practically every country in the world, was in South America three times and passed within the Arctic Circle. Mr. Sheills crossed the equator 11 times and the Atlantic 15 times, first on the 2,500-ton steamer Caledonian and last on the 52,000-ton Berengaria. The first voyage took 20 days and the latter only five. It was Mr. Sheills' boast that he had traveled 200,000 miles by water "and never missed a meal."

In 1921 he came to Victoria and bought the family home on Newport Avenue and annually spent his summers here and his winters in California, when not traveling abroad. He subsequently moved to New Westminster, where he was engaged in newspaper work until 1912, when he moved to Vancouver and established the Vancouver Daily Times, which he sold in 1914. He went overseas in the first Great War with the 47th Battalion and was wounded at Vimy Ridge. On returning to Vancouver he founded Blighty, afterwards known as the B.C. Veterans' Weekly. He also was one of the founders of Scarlet and Gold, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police magazine.

Isley Here September 6

OTTAWA (CP)—A renewed drive for sale of War Savings Certificates will be opened with a trip across Canada by Finance Minister J. L. Isley, beginning August 30, headquarters of the National War Savings committee announced today.

Although the minister plans to make a few public speeches, the trip will be chiefly for organization, the committee said. Emphasis will be on payroll contributions.

Latest information in the hands of the committee is that payrolls this year will expand about $700,000,000 and as part of the wartime economic policy efforts will be made to divert an increasing portion of wages to the savings certificates.

Tentative itinerary of the minister was said to be as follows: Leaves Ottawa August 30; Saskatoon September 2, Edmonton September 3, Vancouver September 5, Victoria September 6, Calgary September 8, Regina September 9, Winnipeg September 10, Montreal September 18 and Toronto September 22.

The committee said the money value of war savings applications from January 1, 1941, to last week-end was $53,808,000, of which $24,718,000 was a payroll pledge, $24,379,000 in individual contributions and $4,711,000 in bank pledges.

From the beginning of the war savings certificates campaign on May 27, 1940, cash value of applications was $80,250,000 or 8,274,000 individual subscribers.

Americans Watch Canadian Show

Keen interest in a show staged by a motorized Canadian Army convoy touring Quebec was shown by members of the United States Army who attended a demonstration at St. Johns recently.

Col. Marius R. Baer, officer commanding the American Army Plattsburg Barracks, was in uniform at the demonstration and a number of other officers and men from Plattsburg Barracks attended in mufti. Many American civilians from border points also attended the demonstration of specialists' trades.

Rangers Battle For Vancouver

HANEY, B.C. (CP)—A "battle" has raged for two days in the Fraser Valley for the cities of Vancouver and New Westminster.

The Rocky Mountain Rangers, nearing the end of a 300-mile march from Kamloops to Vancouver that will eventually take them to camp at Nanaimo, have attempted to drive out the Edmonton Fusiliers, an "enemy" force which occupied New Westminster in a mock battle. The "battle" has been part of actual field condition manoeuvres the Rangers have been carrying out on the long march from Kamloops.

In the battle, the rangers have been held up by the theoretical blowing up of bridges crossing the Pitt River, but have secured boats to ford the stream.

655 Movies Weekly

Six hundred and fifty-five motion pictures are now being shown at 111 camps and barracks every week by the four national organizations of the Auxiliary Services.

DROWNED AT SOOKE—Robert B. Mugford, 32, of the Royal Canadian Navy Fishermen's Reserve, was on temporary leave from his unit when he drowned in Sooke River near Milnes Landing while swimming during a picnic Sunday afternoon. Mr. Mugford was trying to pull himself up on a rock after swimming the river when he slipped, struck his head, and drowned.

IN ENGLAND—Sergt. Pilot Harold Bischlager, R.C.A.F., who has arrived safely in England, according to a cable received this morning by his parents, Rev. Arthur Bischlager and Mrs. Bischlager, Munro Street, Esquimalt.

'TOO REALISTIC' SAY HOME GUARDS

LONDON (CP)—Battered home guards in a Lincolnshire town marked down today as too realistic their mock fighting in defence exercises.

In one affair guards representing opposite sides in the games mauled one another in the streets and then, with police who intervened, rolled in the mud.

Those taking part of fifth columnists were treated harshly and many of the town's most prominent residents turned up at offices with plasters hiding cuts and bruises.

But the unkindest cut was dealt a "prisoner" who dared his captor to use his bayonet. The prisoner received a jab in the seat of the pants and had to be taken to a hospital.

BELLE OF MARDI GRAS—Marlene Dietrich, who is playing the leading role in "The Flame of New Orleans," now showing at the Dominion Theatre.

'THE FLAME OF NEW ORLEANS'

With a variety of new elements showing themselves in its production, Universal's "The Flame of New Orleans," opened today at the Dominion Theatre. The picture comes as a fresh and diverting romantic comedy starring a new and highly-amusing Marlene Dietrich. It is the star's first venture into light comedy, and a most successful venture. Miss Dietrich's lightness has been hidden for several years under the bushel of heavy dramatic parts, and her emergence is a revelation. For Miss Dietrich, within the range of comedy-drama, it offers an actress' field day. She begins the picture by impersonating a sheltered gentlewoman of early Louisiana. Dietrich fans were howling at her quaint, old-fashioned femininity and the thin, fragile soprano affected for the role. Later she becomes a gaudy cafe girl. The situation involves a complete transformation from billowy, feminine clothes to loud rags; from high-style coiffure to bangs and from a low-modulated voice to a string of raucous wisecracks. Miss Dietrich handles the assignment superbly.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Today's attraction at the Oak Bay Theatre is the very thing to relieve the present gloom. It is the latest Ealing production, "Come on, George," and presents George Formby in a veritable feast of entertainment. This popular star is afforded full scope for his inimitable talent in an irresistibly light-hearted tale of a stablehand who alone can control a savage horse, and who eventually rides the animal to victory despite the schemings of his crooked opponents.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Hollywood film reviewers, catching Universal's new service comedy, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello and Dick Powell "In the Navy" at its press preview, hailed Powell's performance as the most realistic and convincing of his entire cinematic career. What they didn't know, however, was that Powell, in his screen characterization as a glib in the U.S. navy, was practically duplicating an episode in his own real life story.

Bud Abbott and Lou Costello and Dick Powell "In the Navy" is currently at the Capitol Theatre.

CADET THEATRE

Noted for his handling of drama and suspense on the screen, Alfred Hitchcock essays hilarious comedy in directing RKO Radio's new feature, "Mr. and Mrs. Smith," now at the Cadet Theatre. Carole Lombard and Robert Montgomery share starring honors in the film, with Gene Raymond heading the supporting cast.

Premier Pattullo To Open Fair

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, will not be able to visit Vancouver in time to open the Canada Pacific Exhibition here next Monday, John Dunsmuir, president of the Vancouver Exhibition Association, said today.

Dunsmuir said Mr. Howe had advised him he would be unable to leave Ottawa at the present time due to the death of Rt. Hon. H. B. Purvis, late head of the British purchasing commission in the United States who was killed in Britain in a recent airplane crash, and to the presence in North America of Lord Beaverbrook, British Minister of Supply.

The association president said that Premier Pattullo will open the exhibition.

RIO—"Let George Do It," starring George Formby.

YORK—"Down Argentine Way," with Don Ameche.

YORK THEATRE "Down Argentine Way," one of the greatest musical extravaganzas ever brought to the screen, is now at the York Theatre. Produced in Technicolor by 20th Century-Fox, the film has Don Ameche, Betty Grable and Carmen Miranda at the head of a scintillating cast.

With emphasis on the spectacular throughout, "Down Argentine Way" has an excellent story featuring an Ameche-Grable 6,000-mile romance. Carmen Miranda, who makes a sensational screen debut, applies her torrid voice to four grand songs. Four other catchy numbers were written by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren.

PLAZA THEATRE Wally Patch, popular Cockney screen comedian, achieves a long-standing ambition in the new Crazy Gang comedy, "Gasbags"—he joins the air force. In his 250-odd films he has played soldier and sailor roles so often that he cannot give the exact number, but this is the first time he has played an R.A.F. role. In "Gasbags," which is now at the Plaza Theatre, he is the R.A.F. sergeant who discovers that the Crazy Gang—balloon barrage men—have moored their balloon to a fish-and-chip stall and are doing a brisk trade with a fair-ground crowd.

RIO THEATRE George Formby doesn't look like a fickle guy. Instead, he has a shy, likable manner that suggests an almost brotherly faithfulness. But the innocence is only skin deep, for the popular British comedian is very seldom seen with the same girl twice—that is in a motion picture.

In his giddy, slap-happy new comedy, "Let George Do It," now at the Rio Theatre, the actor has another leading lady—one of his prettiest so far. This time it's Phyllis Calvert, a devastating red-head.

ATLAS THEATRE Only a baby could get away with it, but Billy Eugene Ferris, aged nine years, is to have his own exclusive star billing in his own special production in a Bette Davis starring picture.

Baby Billy's starring production is a "home movie," shot with 16 millimeter film, and it will be flashed on the screen for scenes of Miss Davis' current Warner Bros. picture, "The Great Lie" currently at the Atlas Theatre.

Hauling Water To Lighthouses

KETCHIKAN, Alaska. (AP)—It's getting so dry in southeastern Alaska that ships are hauling water out to the lighthouses.

It hasn't been that dry since they built those sea beacons. The natives, conservative in matters meteorological, are getting primed to start calling it a drought.

There has been just .76 inch rainfall this month compared to the August average of 11.57. Temperatures have ranged through the 70's to a peak 81.

The Cape Decision light station on Kuiu Island is without water after drying up two lakes on the island. The U.S. Coastguard cutters Nemah and Cyane are engaged in transporting water to the Cape Decision, Guard Island, Tree Point and Eldred Rock lighthouses. Normally they are served by lakes or collected rain-water.

Canneries and mines also have been caught in the pinch. The Cold Standard mine on nearby Helm Bay suspended operations because of the water shortage, which one of the owners said was the worst he had seen in his 40 years in the north.

U.S. Sea Scouts on B.C. Cruise

The Activian moored at the causeway landing in the Inner Harbor.

Axis Ship Losses 4,000,000 Tons

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty announced today approximately 4,000,000 tons of Axis shipping had been sunk, captured or scuttled from the start of the war to August 16.

Of this total, an announcement said, German losses constituted 2,321,000 tons, Italian 1,533,000 tons, Finnish 34,000 and "useful to the enemy" 119,000.

The figures include ships sunk by air attack and 51 ships estimated at 200,000 tons claimed sunk by the Russians.

Axis losses since the last report was given July 10 were put at 616,000 tons by an Admiralty spokesman.

The Royal Air Force accounted for a large part of this figure in attacks on German shipping along the Norwegian, French and Netherlands coasts.

There was no new announcement of British losses. Officials declined to go beyond the report covering June, which showed grand totals sunk during the war as follows:

British—1,074 ships of 4,601,120 tons.

Allied—334 ships of 1,498,017 tons.

Neutral—326 ships of 1,004,843 tons.

Skipper Burned

VANCOUVER (CP)—Capt. Bob Wright of the tugboat Young Hustler No. 2, suffered slight burns to the head and arms when fire broke out on the boat early today as it was berthed at a dock in the Fraser River at nearby Marpole, B.C.

Clifford Smith, mate, was uninjured.

The blaze, believed to have been caused by the galley stove back-firing, caused damage to the boat estimated at $2,500 before being extinguished by city firemen.

Sea Scout executives and crew of officers and Scouts arrived in the city yesterday from Bellingham aboard the schooner-rigged power vessel Activian, spent the day here and sailed at 5 for Prince Louise Inlet.

"Princess Louise Inlet is one of the best-known points on the British Columbia coast to American Sea Scouts," said Horace Griggs, veteran member of the party.

"It is probably the finest scenic section of the entire coast. The boys have made numerous cruises there. They expect to continue to do so."

Griggs is an old friend of W. H. Bone of this city. They spent a lot of time together yesterday, reviving old times.

Tyee Crompton, dean of the Sea Scout movement at Bellingham, recalled the early nineties when he was a newspaperman on the Victoria Times, when John Nelson was editor. He used to cover the waterfront. He was also boys' work secretary at the Y.M.C.A. here.

Lloyd's Shipping Register Delayed

NEW YORK (AP)—Lloyd's Register of Shipping, authoritative manual on merchant ships, will be delayed three months in publication, word reaching here from London said today. Lloyd's said that "owing to circumstances beyond our control" the 1941-42 edition will be delayed until October.

Captain Stripped By Bomb Blast

LONDON (CP)—The captain remained on the bridge after a German air bomb hit his merchantman—but the blast stripped him down to the waistband of his trousers, the sleeves of his jacket and his socks.

That was only the first bomb. The second, another direct hit, sank the vessel but the captain survived.

The captain, quoted by the Ministry of Information today, said that after the first blast his machine gunner crawled from debris on the bridge "and asked me if I was all right."

"The next thing I knew," he said, "the water was over the bridge rail and up to my chin. I floated away from the ship as she sank."

The captain suffered only head cuts and bruises.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Scattered spots of strength persisted in Tuesday's stock market but many leaders were unable to repeat on Monday's slow-going recovery.

The foreign news, specifically Moscow's admission the German thrust was gaining momentum, served to chill some potential buyers. Transfers approximated 400,000 shares.

A few gains and losses of a point or so were seen at the close but variations generally were in fractions.

Among stocks Loew's and Paramount established new 1941 tops. Cerro de Pasco was an exception in the copper division, getting up more than a point. Support was accorded General Motors, Chrysler, Boeing, Philip Morris, Great Northern and Consolidated Edison. Continental Motors again was a lively performer, starting on a block of 7,500 shares, unchanged at 4.

Standard Oil (Ohio) was down more than 2 at the worst. Backward were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, U.S. Rubber, Westinghouse, Anaconda, Glenn Martin and American Smelting.

O'Brien Drops

TORONTO (CP)—In light selling the stock market drifted slightly downward in Tuesday's Toronto Exchange session to show small declines for all four index groups.

Two features were the selling of O'Brien for a loss of 10 to 146 and the active trading in Steep Rock that carried the price to a new high for the current movement at 188, up 8 for the day. Pend Oreille, Ventures and Nickel were slightly stronger and Noranda weakened 1/2 to 54 1/2.

Senior oils, including Imperial, International Petroleum and British American were lower and foods boarded a few more losses than gains. Other groups balanced gains with losses. Maple Leaf Milling stocks moved ahead, the preferred firming a point to 6. Massey-Harris preferred firmed 1/2 to 44 and B.C. Power A, Consumers Gas and Blue Ribbon preferred weakened a point or more.
